The Year Is Round . . .

School Life 1-13

Administration, Faculty 16-41

Activities 44-95

Sports 98-135

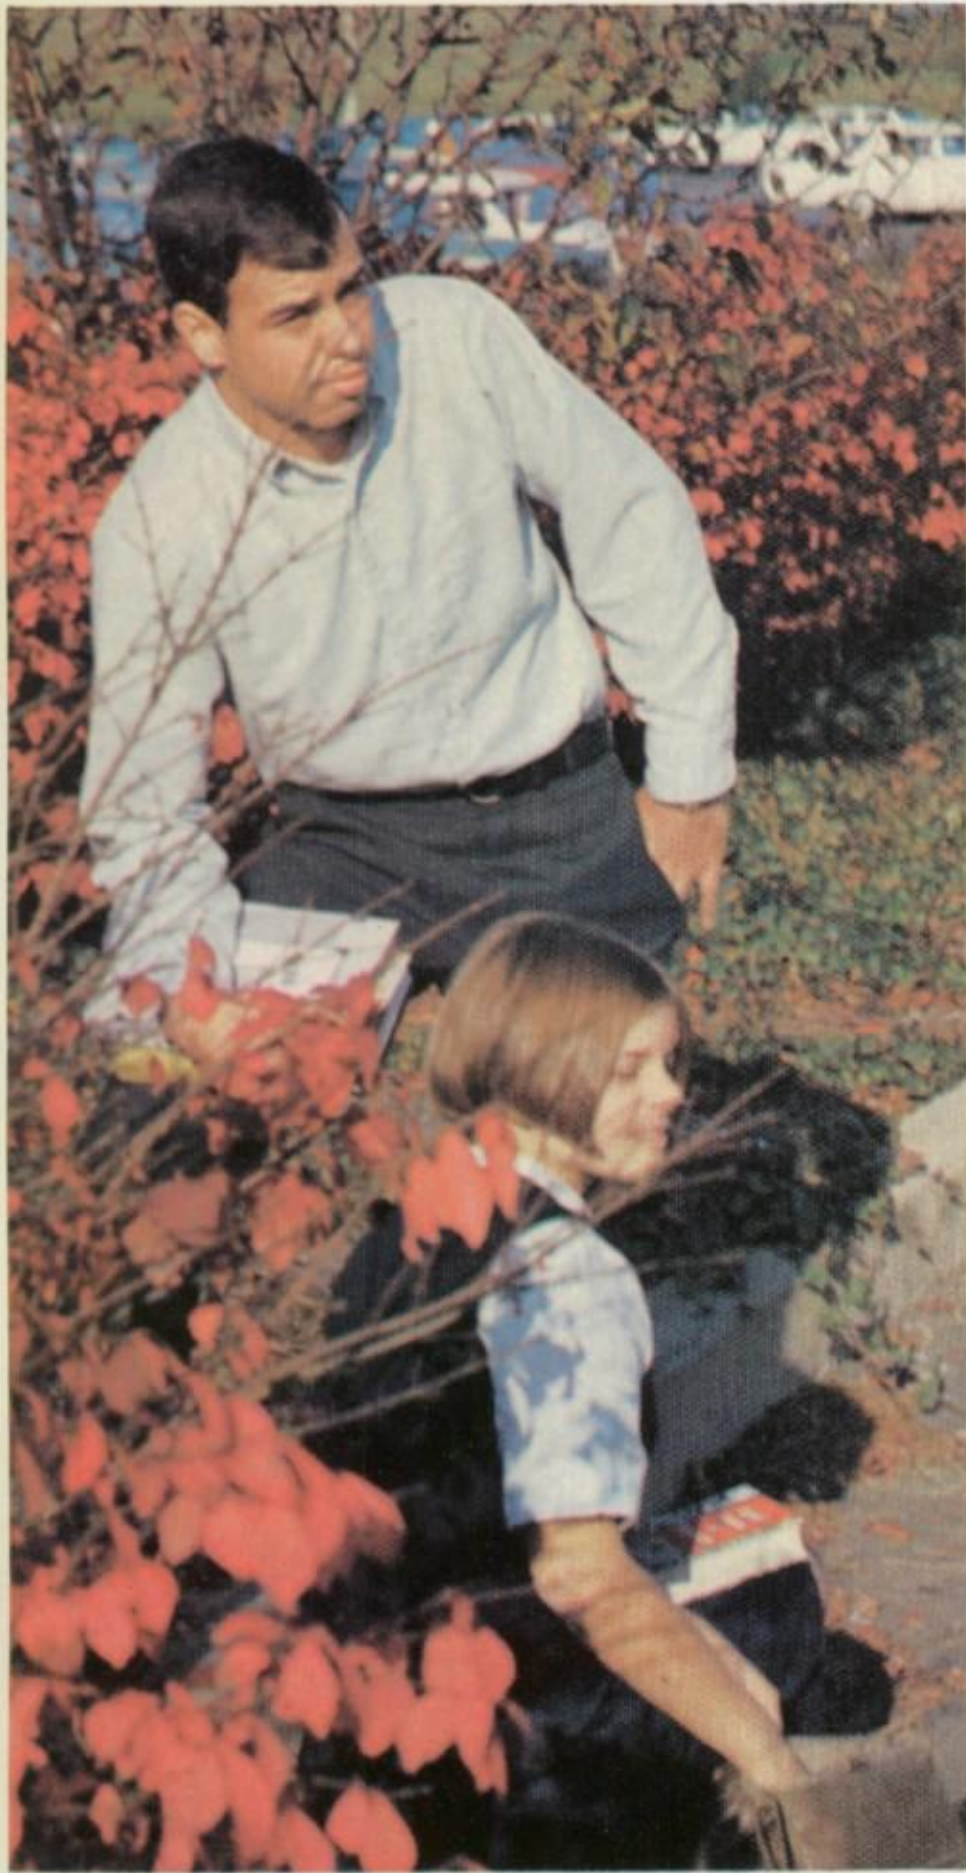

Underclassmen 138-165

Seniors 168-214

Patrons 215-222

Encircling the "E" at left are representatives of the many areas of life at East: Mr. Miller, faculty advisor of the senior class; Marian Brubaker, active leader of the Spirit Club; Pete Daube, senior member of three varsity sports;

Ken Stauffer, senior class president; Hazel Zettlemyer, senior member of three varsity girls' sports; and Mike Harding, Junior class president.

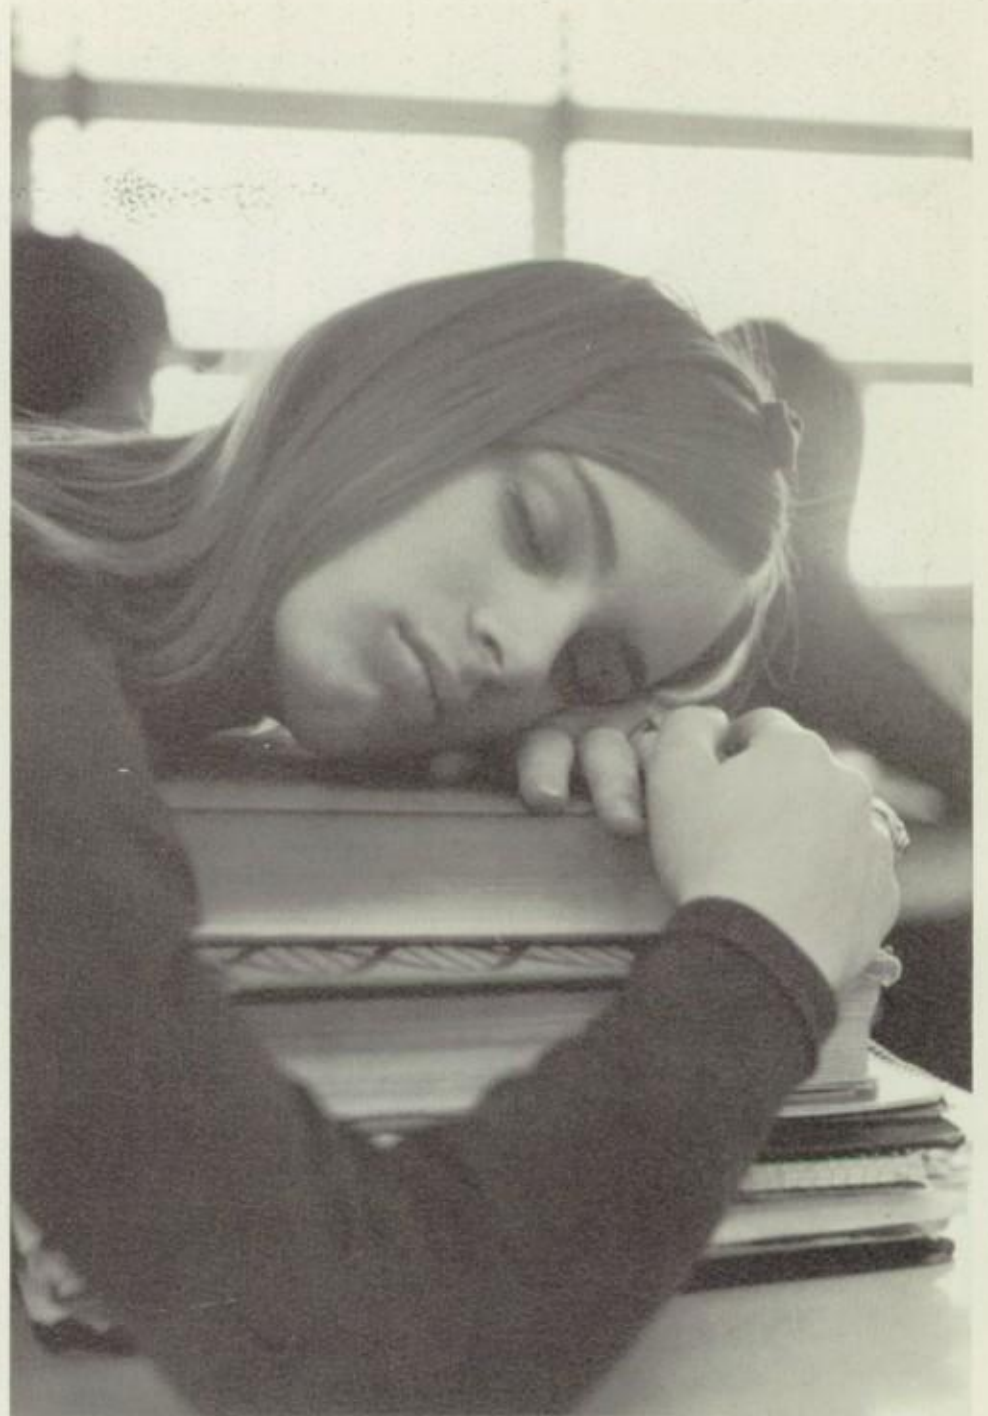

A lazy summer terminates ... overworked sandals and cut-off wranglers are tossed aside with reluctance ... we sadly anticipate the first day of school ... suddenly we are reunited with old friends ... summer becomes a part of the past.

With the new year came new hemlines ... "falls" mystified the boys ... plaid pants attracted the girls ... oversized rings fell off middle fingers ... petite rings pinched masculine pinkies.

Laughter and cheers resounded from the gym ... pep rallies were a finale for black and white days ... eager fans packed spirit buses ... football provided cheers-tears ... phantom bonfire-burners visited East ... emotional fans sang the Alma Mater at the end of the game ... capacity crowds crammed the gym and doors had to be closed ... basketball was a "standing room only" attraction ... somehow when we lost, though, we always bounced back ... losses made victories all the more precious.

The aroma of soft pretzels began fifth period ... seventh period dragged on forever ... then ... a short bell ... and halls were jammed ... a burned chocolate cupcake ... a carton of milk ... on the way to that "important meeting" ... painting signs sprawled on the floor ... T-shirts and jeans for practice ... gossip sessions in the cafeteria ... and finally an illegal bus ride home.

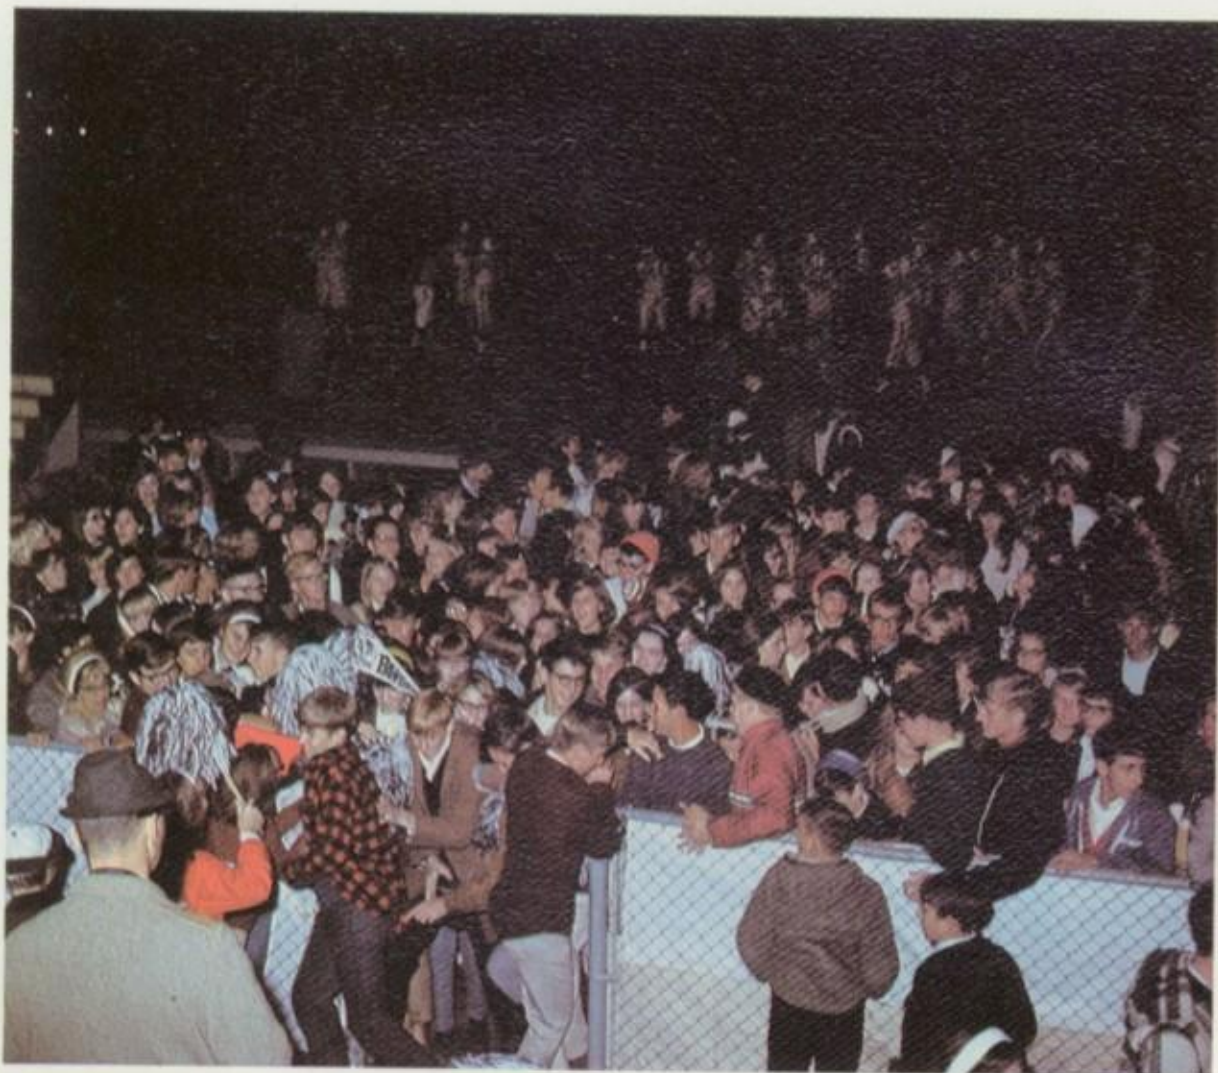

*Sandy,
To a real girl,

Classes. . .the main function of school. . . seemingly unending. . . tremendous study halls in the auditorium. . . the overheard yawn. . . the whispered answer that was wrong. . .unappreciated then. . .an asset for the future.

The student's life involves many spheres of existence . . . the intelligent guidance of teachers. . . the challenge of sports. . . a feeling of fraternity in extra-curricular activities. . . the knowledge of the classrooms . . . all contribute to the student's personality. . . adding a little more to the fullness of maturity. . . completing a new circle of mental growth. . . the year is round.

Administration, Faculty

The components of a year are only as many as the daily tasks ... opening day frenzy and chatter ... lesson plans due, overdue ... collect locker money ... collect insurance papers ... sell A.A. cards ... study hall! ... "I don't have anything black and white ... "detention hall ... late bus requests ... 75 book reports and two days until grades go out ... Where DO teachers go on report card day? ... PTA ... selling tickets, taking tickets, buying tickets ... "That's my teacher over there--the one selling shirts ..." after school meetings ... before school meetings ... practice, rehearse, organize, instruct ... a cup of coffee can salvage a day. Yes, the year is round--a daily round. At right: Although Mr. Murphy is knocked off his donkey, he retains possession of the ball in the faculty donkey basketball game.

Increased Guidance Personnel Allows for Individualized Aid

Mr. Paul Briner

Guidance counselors, a relatively recent addition to school administrations, have become a necessary part of school life. Their work enables high schools to provide individual attention in spite of their increasing complexity. At East three helpful counselors endeavor to direct students in their selection of courses and future careers. Mrs. Holt aids the college preparatory students; Mr. Briner serves the general and business students; and Mr. Beck, a new addition to the staff, counsels the sophomores.

Rosemary Kolish finds that the guidance office waiting room provides free moments to peruse college catalogs.

“Rip ‘Em Up! Tear ‘Em Up” Duo

Mr. John W. Bolton, Principal

One of the most spirited persons seen in East's halls is the school's principal, Mr. John Bolton. A participator rather than just a spectator in pep rallies, this Very Important Panther's enthusiasm intensifies panther pride. His friendliness and genuine concern for the student body helps to create an air of mutual respect and understanding between faculty and students alike.

A graduate of Susquehanna High School and Elizabethtown College, Mr. Bolton returned to his high school alma mater to teach social studies for five years, during which he also coached baseball, football, and basketball. He then traveled to John Harris High School where he joined the guidance department for three years and coached basketball and baseball. With the addition of East High to the District, Mr. Bolton assumed the responsibilities of assistant principal. After retaining this position for three years, he was elevated to the office of principal, a post which he has ably filled for the past four years.

An amiable member of East's administration is Mr. Adam Hoover, assistant principal. He too is an avid participator at pep rallies, energetically aiding Mr. Bolton in leading "Rip 'em up! Tear 'em up," a favorite cheer. A jovial and friendly administrator, Mr. Hoover readily takes time to aid students and teachers alike.

After graduating from Steelton High School, Mr. Hoover attended Lebanon Valley College and Penn State, graduating from Shippensburg State Teachers College. Upon the completion of his formal education, he served as a social studies teacher and assistant principal at Penbrook Junior High School. He later spent seven years at Lower Paxton Junior High School teaching social studies. In 1963 Mr. Hoover became acting assistant principal here at East, later assuming full-time the duties of assistant principal.

Personable Staffs Aid Students, Faculty

Mrs. Carol Proper, Mrs. Amy Williams, Mrs. Joyce Kauffman, Mrs. Mim Schoening.

Seldom thanked and appreciated but ever present were the varied staffs hidden in the bustle of the office and cafeteria. Although students seldom came in contact with the administrative secretaries, their duties were vital to the school's maintainence. More familiar and just as important were the faces of the secretaries in the front office and the cafeteria workers.

Few of us will ever forget the friendliness of the custodial staff. How many times did Dutch open a necessary door or Glace repair a jammed locker? Always ready with a warm smile and a helping hand, all of these behind-the-scenes workers were very much a part of East High.

May Queen, Ginny Drew, reigning over the evening celebrations, receives an admiring glance from her escort, Jeff Palmer.

"The Greatest May Day Ever" came to East High in 1967. Organized by senior Connie Uhrich, the most successful May Day began as all other days, but as afternoon approached the cafeteria was turned into a carnival of fun. Featuring booths of food and games by many school organizations, the afternoon's festivities meant no classes and fun for all. For the evening's celebrations the carnival was displaced by the decorations for the Queen's dance, and the auditorium was transformed into a coronation room. After the crowning of Ginny Drew as Queen of the May, students and faculty presented a variety show for her pleasure. The greatest May Day ever was concluded as students, faculty, and parents danced to the music of a local combo.

Ginny Drew displays surprise and joy as she is announced queen. Sharing the happiness with Ginny are Fran Markunas, Nancy Roeting, Jenny Boynton, Patti Kearns, and Sherron Megonnel.

Homecoming Weekend

The pride of being East High's Homecoming Queen is reflected on Nancy Roeting's face.

"A rip-'em-up-tear-'em-up" pep rally launched the gala events of the Homecoming weekend. That evening our first non-joint Homecoming Dance featured the presentation of the court and the 1967 Queen, Nancy Roeting.

Under the lights of Landis Stadium, the Homecoming festivities continued. Pre-game ceremonies highlighted a blazing seven-foot "E" which was ignited by Mr. Bolton. Half-time found the Panthers leading Carlisle, setting the mood for further celebrations. "Music to Watch Girls By" accompanied the arrival of the Queen and her court who reigned over the victorious finale. East's 15-7 victory over the Thundering Herd concluded a successful Homecoming week-end without big sister.

Committee Promotes Youth Festival at East

Sally Thompson, East's Teen Queen, stands amid the high school queens at the 13th annual Youth Festival.

Thanksgiving vacation saw the arrival of the annual Harrisburg area Youth Festival. Featuring the nationally known and popular Magnificent Men, the Festival presented queens from over twenty area high schools. Representing East High was senior Sally Thompson.

Under the leadership of Brad Flickinger, East's committee made advertisement posters and sold ads for the Festival program, selling more ads than any other school. All of these pre-Festival activities only served to heighten anticipation of the social zenith of the Thanksgiving season.

Sally Thompson and Bob Hanshaw smile amiably as they mingle with other couples at the Youth Festival.

Youth Forum Probes

Moral, Global Problems

This year a secret survey was initiated into the Youth Forum program. Students devoted their history classes to answering such multiple-choice questions as "Generally, is our position in Vietnam justified?" and "Why do you feel there has been as increased popularity in drug usage?" This questionnaire was followed in March by a discussion day on which students debated morals, scholastic problems, national affairs, the war in Vietnam, and world issues. These discussions were led by volunteer Youth Forum representatives and alternates.

On March 29, the representatives traveled to the Capital Area Youth Forum, held at Hershey High School. During the afternoon they participated in discussions with students from all of the area high schools. After being served dinner, they attended an assembly where the day's attitudes were summarized by speakers.

"The Heiress": Portrait of a Girl Who Is a Disappointment

"Father wants me to be composed and to direct the conversation, but I can't. . . ." Catherine buckles under the strain of meeting Morris in the presence of her Father.

"You have done me a great service, Mrs. Penniman. Catherine and I are eloping tomorrow."

On December 2 and 4 the curtain in the East High auditorium opened, and the senior class play, "The Heiress," was presented. The play was considered by many to be almost professional.

The success of the play was certainly no accident. The cast, composed of seven seniors and two juniors, worked under the direction of Mr. Samuel Oberholtzer for nearly two months. Rehearsals were long and sometimes proved trying for both cast and director.

In a play it is often the responsibility of the cast to erect the set and provide the properties, and this play was no exception. Properties were borrowed from the homes of Mrs. Creznic and Charles Longenecker. During the Thanksgiving holiday, rehearsals were abandoned and the cast began the task of aiding the stage crew in finishing the set. Also during the holiday three East High alumni returned to help. Richard Dutro spent two days of his vacation working on the set. Wayne Arnold aided Sue Steele in creating the stencil for the stairway wallpaper. Elliott Gerber borrowed properties from the Harrisburg Community Theatre. The men's costumes were rented; however, the women's costumes were made largely through the efforts of Pat Myers with the help of her committee.

"The Heiress" involved a great deal of work for all people associated with it. But the reception of the play and the applause of the audience as the curtain closed made all the efforts worthwhile.

to Her Demanding Father

Reflected on the face of Catherine, portrayed by Sue Coleman, is the strain exerted on her by the two dominant men in her life: Morris and her father.

"What assurance have I that he would take good care of her? The contrary is more likely." Chuck Longenecker as Dr. Sloper explains his position to his sister Mrs. Almond, portrayed by Pat Zimmer.

"You want me to complain about him, but I have no complaint!" Mrs. Montgomery, played by Sue Kurzawski, is irritated by Dr. Sloper's bluntness concerning her brother Morris, portrayed by Steve Rogers.

Assemblies, Pep Rallies

One of the most popular assemblies of the year was "Charlie's Aunt" performed by the Arena House Players.

Under the direction of Mr. Stahle the Pan-Ram's performed for community and school functions. Financial receipts from these engagements helped to supply music for their entertaining and extensive repertoire. At their annual assembly presented in January the dance band played such songs as "People" and "Birth of the Blues." Kathy Nixon was vocalist with the group.

The choir made its first performance of 1967-'68 in the annual Thanksgiving assembly, appearing first on the program and singing two songs which set the proper Thanksgiving mood. At Christmas the choir held an evening concert, half of which featured religious music and the other half secular. The latter part was performed in assembly, accompanied by bright scenery and intermittent action. Other programs presented by the choir throughout the year were the "pops" concert and the spring concert.

Mrs. Susanne Huey became the new director of the choir this year. She initiated a glee club to sing for smaller programs in and out of school. Another group made up of select members of the choir was the concert choir.

A.V. Club Eager to Assist Visual Aid Needs

R. Bleyer, Pres.; R. Wadlinger, Vice-Pres.

Trained to operate movie projectors, tape recorders, overhead projectors, and other visual aids equipment, the members of the A.V. Club assist both the faculty and students. To maintain their knowledge of the equipment, the A.V. boys meet once a month. In addition to their in-school activities, the club members traveled to a television station and a theatre to observe transmission techniques.

Individual Interests Stirred in Photo Club, Stage Crew

This year's Photography Club, advised by Mr. Royer, was successful in its major project of microphotography, which consisted of picturetaking through a microscope. The members were largely on their own as they developed and printed their own photographs in the school's darkroom facilities. In addition to this project, plans were discussed concerning a photo contest or display. Seldom seen but ever present were the members of the stage crew. Setting and tearing down props, controlling amplification and lighting, and assisting in all school assemblies and concerts were only a few of their duties.

Affiliated with the national YWCA, the Y-Teen Club is a community-service organization. The purpose of the club is to encourage girls to involve themselves in local happenings and to teach them how they can help their community. Along with membership in the club, the girls are given the privileges accorded to members of the YWCA.

The major activity of the Y-Teens was to supply food and gifts to a family in Harrisburg at Thanksgiving and Christmas. Club meetings featured speakers talking about such subjects as self-defense and fashions.

New Club Sparks Artistic Interests

Newly formed, the Graphic Arts Club was created to encourage artistic endeavors at East. Printing was the primary craft of the club members, with categories of silk-screening, etching, block and linoleum printing available according to each student's interest. In the separate groups students designed and created their own projects with the aid of Mrs. Bissett, the club's advisor.

For two weeks in January, the club sponsored an art exhibition at East, showing original prints by selected artists. In the spring, club members traveled to New York City to visit the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Museum of Modern Arts, and Greenwich Village. Field trips to sketch places of artistic interest were also scheduled. The field trips and supplies for the club were financed by pretzel sales.

Club Members Prepare for Tomorrow's Business World

As with many other school organizations, the Business Club had many bake sales to raise much-needed money. Some of this money was employed for the Christmas party and a club dinner. Making a happy Easter for the youngsters at the Children's Home put much of their money to a worthwhile use.

Through club membership students maintained the high standard of office work which will be valued by their future employers. To further prepare them for employment, a speaker presented the aspects of "How to Get Your First Job."

Shorthand Club Members Achieve Greater Skills

Comprised solely of shorthand students in the eleventh and twelfth grades, the Shorthand Club met monthly to familiarize its members with business practices. Emphasis was placed on secretarial jobs and hiring procedures. Speakers from the business world spoke at club meetings to acquaint the girls with interviewing techniques. Among the speakers were graduates of East who were employed as secretaries and who were student secretaries from the medical arts school. Personnel directors were also guests, telling the club members what they look for when hiring. Other club meetings covered the pertinent area of grooming.

September of 1967 found the Future Nurses Club with little money in its treasury. To compensate for this lack of funds, the club held bake sales and pretzel sales. With this money the club purchased a heat lamp for the athletic department. Other projects of the club included making favors for the State Hospital at Christmas and Easter and sponsoring Medical Careers Night.

FNA meetings featured speakers from various phases of the medical field, promoting the club's purpose of encouraging students to pursue careers in medicine. Judy Shimp, FNA president, was chosen East's Miss Christmas Seal. Judy placed as second-runner-up for Miss Christmas Seal of Dauphin County.

Preparing for the Future, FHA Learns Homemaking Skills

D. Haas, Vice-Pres.; K. Arnold, Pres.; M. Vantz, Treas.; P. Gallagher, Hist.; M. Neibich, Sec.

The Future Homemakers Club, under the direction of Mrs. Lyons, helps prepare its members for homemaking skills. Limited by the all-school candy sale, they did not have any money-making projects.

Throughout the year they had several different speakers at their meetings.

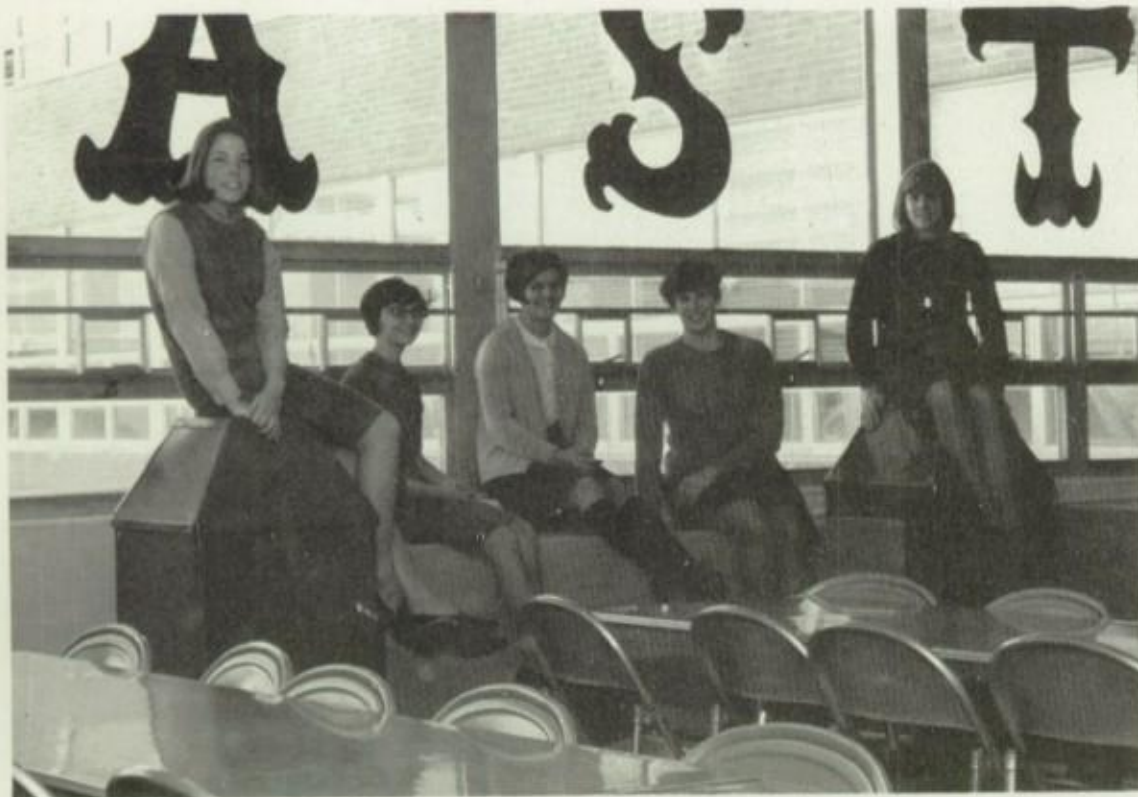

They enjoyed having marriage counselors, fashion co-ordinators, and homemakers. The FHA encompassed many aspects of homemaking: fashion, preparation of meals, interior decorating, and a better understanding of both husband and children.

FTA Members Aspire to Teaching Careers

The Future Teachers of America, capably advised by Mrs. Zimmerer, spent a busy year preparing themselves for their chosen profession. Although there were many interesting and informative programs throughout the year, a few special activities stand out. Probably the most notable of these was the Senior Banquet, a "feast" planned by the club's juniors and sophomores for the graduates to be. Another highlight of the year was the annual Christmas party at which five former members described the rigors of college life and answered questions shot at them by inquisitive club members. The teacher's panel, a program at which teachers discussed the many aspects of their career, continued its tradition of success. FTA'ers also received both ideas and inspiration from various conventions held by state and regional organizations of FTA.

JCC's Give Orphans a Merry Christmas

Christmas was a happier time for several lucky orphan girls. Members of the Junior Civic Club held a party for them and bought them gifts such as dolls, clothing, and games. The JCC's other Christmas activity was trimming the school Christmas tree and stringing holly in the foyer.

A non-profit organization with an all-girl membership, the JCC's serve both school and community. Money to support service projects was gained through the sale of black and white East High sailor hats.

Each member of Los Amigos brought two children to their annual Christmas party. For the party piñatas were made and, in the style of Spanish festivities, the children used long poles to break the candy-filled piñatas. Money to support their party was gained through the selling of candy apples.

The club members' awareness of Spanish customs was broadened in several ways during the year. A major activity was their trip to New York City to see "The Man of la Mancha," a play based on DON QUIXOTE. After the play they ate in a Spanish restaurant.

D. Rhoads, Vice-Pres.; J. Brenizer, Pres.; S. Thompson, Sec.-Treas.

Le Cercle de Francais, accepting members from classes of French II and up, began the year with many new members. Mrs. Romano, the French student teacher, helped Mrs. Sowers advise the club. Activities for the year included a hayride, a picnic, and a Christmas party. These activities were much like scenes from France with French folk songs, games, and French activities being observed. During the Christmas season, many neighborhoods were surprised to hear French Christmas carolers. Throughout the year speakers visited the club. Often the speakers had visited France, or had been educated in a field that is uniquely French.

Thespians Gain Points in School Productions

The promotion of dramatic arts in high school is the primary purpose of the Thespian Troupe. Membership in the club affords the opportunity to students interested in drama to learn this craft through practical experience. A student can become a member of the club only by amassing ten points. These points are earned through acting or working backstage at school productions.

Thespian Troupe members assisted in the production of the junior and senior class plays. Other activities included sponsoring a drama festival and entering the one-act competition at the Harrisburg Community Theatre. An overnight trip to New York City was also scheduled so that the Troupe could see Broadway productions.

Honor Society Reward for Scholastic Achievements

Organized in 1963 at East, the National Honor Society was established to give recognition to those students who have attained exceptional academic records. Mrs. Madalyn Holt serves as advisor and the chapter is one of over a thousand throughout the country.

Service, character, leadership and scholarship are the four main points of consideration for the society. Membership is determined by the faculty and only ten percent of the members are chosen from the junior class. The others consist of five per cent of the seniors. During the year each student must maintain a 4.0 average in order to be considered a member. Each spring an initiation assembly is conducted for the new members. Following this, a tea is held for the students and their parents.

As in any organization, officers are a vital part in the functioning of the society. Maureen Crowley, Pres.; Bob Seitz, Vice Pres.; Kathy Baylor, Sec.; and Diane Benkovic, Treas. serve as this year's executive staff.

The main project of the club in the past has been "Slave Day" which helps the club to provide the necessary funds for pins for the senior members.

Functioning only as an honorary society at East, the National Honor Society is a beacon for the knowledge of tomorrow.

Key Club Promotes Good Will, Good Times

A service club composed entirely of boys, the Key Club is an affiliate of the Steelton Kiwanis Club. For their first project of the year, the Key Clubbers presented their annual Thanksgiving assembly. Preceding the assembly they collected from the student body enough canned goods to present seven Thanksgiving baskets to needy families.

Created as money-making projects but ending as good times were club carwashes. Some of the money earned in these projects was used to buy candy during the all-school candy sale. This candy was then sent to Viet Nam. As in previous years, the club assisted in the March of Dimes Bread Sale. The largest project and one of the most admirable is the Key Club's presentation of a $150 scholarship to a deserving student at the end of each year.

Interact's Creed: Service to School, Community

"Give so that others may enjoy their Christmas, too," was the plea of Interact Club members as they tended the Salvation Army booth at the Colonial Park Plaza. The club is based on the principle of service to school and community, and this pre-Christmas aid to the Salvation Army was one of its main projects.

The Interact Club was under the supervision of faculty advisor Mr. Sheetz, and worked in conjunction with the Colonial Park Rotary Club. Major events of the year were the banquet with the Rotary Club and the Interact Clubs of Central Dauphin and Susquehanna, the Linglestown Horse Show, and the Christmas crusade for the Salvation Army.

As defending champions of District 6 of the Pennsylvania High School Speech League, the 1968 edition of the Debate Society compiled a league record of 8 wins and 8 losses. Debating the topic "Resolved: That Congress should establish uniform criminal investigation procedures," the Society participated in league invitational and district competitions. The district contest found the debaters in a three-way tie for second place with a six and two record. Only a loss to Trinity High School eliminated the team from state competition. Weekly meetings were held by the Debate Society so that team members could review and up-date their material. Mr. Shropshire was the advisor of the Society, and Mr. Oberholtzer served as the judge. In addition to league competition, the Debate Society presented a debate in an assembly to interest underclassmen in joining the society.

The Public Relations Club's purpose was to publicize all school news and events. "Youth Speaks," a ten member panel, attempted to bridge the gap between generations. Their busy schedule included engagements with many organizations in the area. Each panel member spoke on a certain topic pertinent to the viewpoints of today's teens. The panel moderator was either John Nikoloff or Brad Flickinger. This year, an apprentice panel was designed to speak to junior high school audiences rather than to adult organizations. The purpose of this panel, composed of sophomores, was to speak on the adjustments a student must make when entering senior high.

The writing staff covered school news and activities of clubs and classes. This was done through articles in the local newspaper. The job of the radio staff was to secure special publicity in the form of radio interviews, news casts, or special programs. The art staff was in charge of designing the bulletin board in the foyer. This bulletin board corresponded with special events or seasons of the year.

A scrapbook of all news publicized about East was kept, then given to Mr. Bolton. The club also had a social committee in charge of inviting and greeting local newsmen and guests who came to special events at East High. Another new duty of the club was announcing school news at football and basketball games. Members of the club were in charge of afternoon announcements given over the P.A. system.

Maureen Crowley, P. R. Club president, was a frequent announcer at the end of a day.

Council Plans Gala Homecoming

A most successful non-joint Homecoming was planned by the Student Council as its first project of the year. After Homecoming the activities prior to the C.D. game were begun with a smash as the Council featured the Ram-Mobile.

The aroma of onions was present all through East's halls the day that the Student Council held its sub sale. Orders for the subs were taken ahead of time and then they were assembled in the cafeteria.

Student Council's May Day festivities were the highlight of the spring. Various clubs staged booths, but the whole affair was superintended by the Council. The Student Council finished the year by welcoming the future sophomores of 1968 in the annual Sophomore Orientation Dance.

Deadline Panic Surmounted by Staff and Editors

During the year, the PANTHERAMA strove to maintain the high standards set for it in previous years. The paper, dedicated to serve the student body by keeping it informed, attempted to still further improve its quality in two main ways. A new literary section was added, to which students made many original contributions. This participation by students not on the staff has helped to increase student awareness and pride in the paper.

Another important goal this year was the improvement of pictures both in quality and quantity. An admirable goal, the staff worked hard to reach this end.

Even with the above improvements, past favorites remained. The opinion poll continued to sample students on controversial issues. The Alumni News informed pupils of the accomplishments of those who have left East's halls. The sports section accurately reported on East's athletic triumphs and defeats, an area which concerned us all.

Louise Champagne, Delores Rhoades, and Nancy Spangler review past issues of PANTHERAMA.

Sports

Sports can create feelings of fraternity and pride in a school ... pride at East begins with the first practice ... grows with the initial victory ... continues through defeats ... football in '67 provided East's best record ... losses to C. D. hurt, but victory returns ... hockey girls brave the fall elements ... wrestlers struggle and perspire ... individual gains are team victories ... practice promotes perfection ... late bus rides ... evening practices ... basketball brings new cheers ... Panther claws grasp the league for the first time ... prevailing over all are pride ... spirit ... teamwork ... sportsmanship ... ecstatic victors ... graceful losers ... sports complete the person ... complete the school. When the halls become quiet each day after 3:30, it might seem that the Panther spirit is soon to sleep. However, at that time the East High Cheerleaders keep the spirit alive practicing those few extra hours that make the big difference in their lively performance. Advised by Mrs. Miller, the varsity and junior varsity squads each consist of eight members, with two substitutes.

The cheerleaders are chosen by a panel of judges each spring. Finances to supply their shakers are derived through the sale of mums and pretzels. Each year the cheerleaders initiate new cheers, chants, and songs. This year to promote new spirit the cheerleaders originated the "Spirit Stick" contest, with the black and white stick being the prize for the most spirited class.

Backfield Gains Record Yardage; Defense Allows Fewer Points

When the middle of August arrived, 100 eager boys appeared for the first day of formal practice for the East High football team. Prior to this day the boys had been training by running and weight-lifting. This year's squad added experience and weight to previous teams. The offensive line averaged 200 pounds, while the backfield weighed-in at an average of 165 pounds. Fourteen lettermen were included in the team.

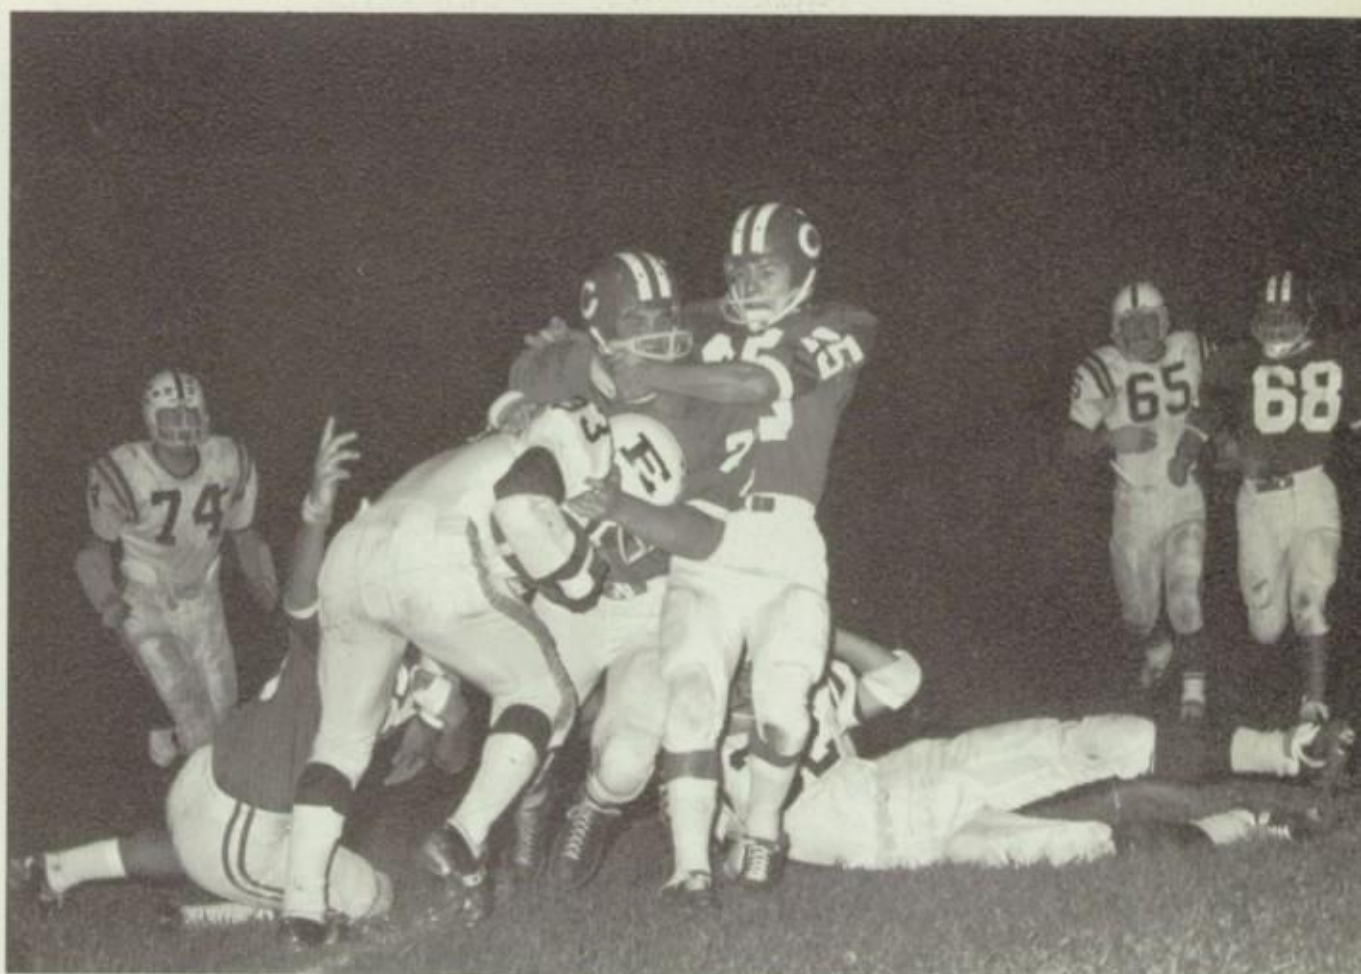

Determination and pride gave the 1967 squad a 5-5 record, the best in the short history of East High. Panther Pride was never at a higher peak than when East defeated Lebanon 19-6 or Milton Hershey 38-0 and when the Panther's registered our first victory over Carlisle 15-6. Withstanding a second half tie by the Crusaders, East bested McDevitt 27-20, only to stumble one week later under the Shamrocks 13-12. No one will soon forget the disappointing showing against the Rams, 26-0, but the Panthers bounced back against Waynesboro 40-14. The curtain came down on the 1967 football season with the Panther Power holding the number ten team in the State, Shikellamy, to a slim 7-0 win.

Cross Country Tries Out New Course

East High harriers are silhouetted against an early evening sky.

On August 15 the cross country team reported to East High, eager to begin their new season. A new course eliminated the necessity of crossing roads with accompanying hazards. Tedious practice was a part of the training program, with the harriers running four to five miles each day to keep in good condition.

Five returning lettermen contributed experience to Mr. Vishnesky's runners, but injuries, as in most sports, hampered the success of this year's squad. Broken jaws, pulled muscles, and side cramps were included among the injuries.

Although this season wasn't as victorious as others in the past, victory wasn't the only factor in determining a successful season. All of the runners were rewarded with sounder bodies and a feeling of fraternity for their efforts.

Junior Conrad Lyons flies high to "shoot for two" against C.D. in East's 58-54 loss.

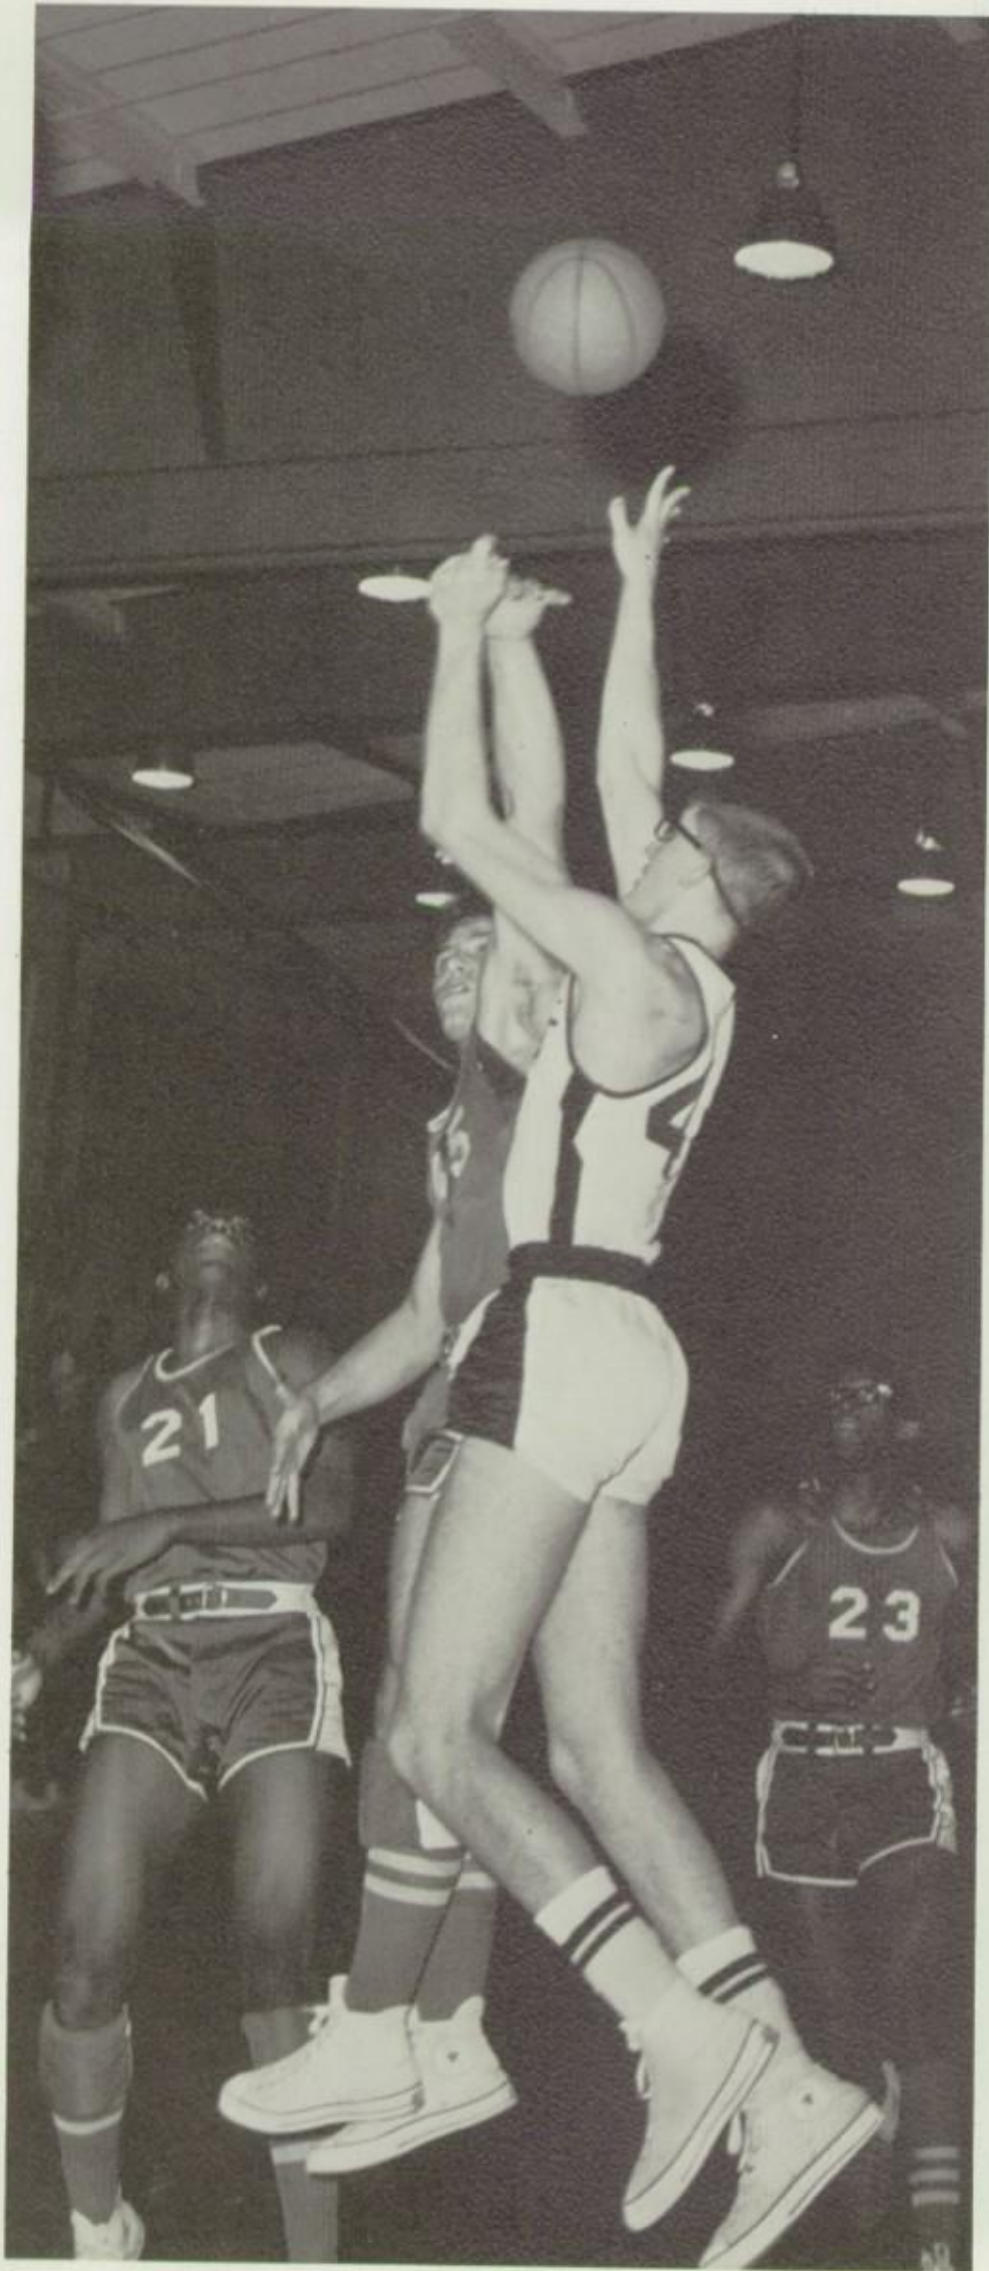

Under the leadership of first-year coach John Shropshire, the 1967-68 basketball team surprised the Central Penn League. Few teams found their contest with East to be an easy one, with Cedar Cliff, Steel-High, and Reading falling prey to the Panthers. Even when they didn't come out on top, the team made their determination known as in the cliff-hanging losses to C.D., William Penn, and Lebanon.

East High's team took the floor with height, speed, and ball-handling ability in abundance, but perhaps their greatest key to success was in their team work. Rewards reaped from teamwork can be seen in the victory column and in the record books. Outstanding individual performances were given all season by seniors Joe Vajda and Jim Baker, both boys registering among the scoring leaders in the Central Penn. By working the ball in for the shot, the team was able to give Jim the opportunity to establish the school record for the highest number of points in one game, with a total of 37 points against York. Joe's height and agility made it possible for him to set a school record in rebounding with 345 rebounds. Jim's ability and accuracy to consistently "swish" the basket, and Joe's versatility in blocking opponent's shots and stealing passes gave the East High basketball fans something to cheer about.

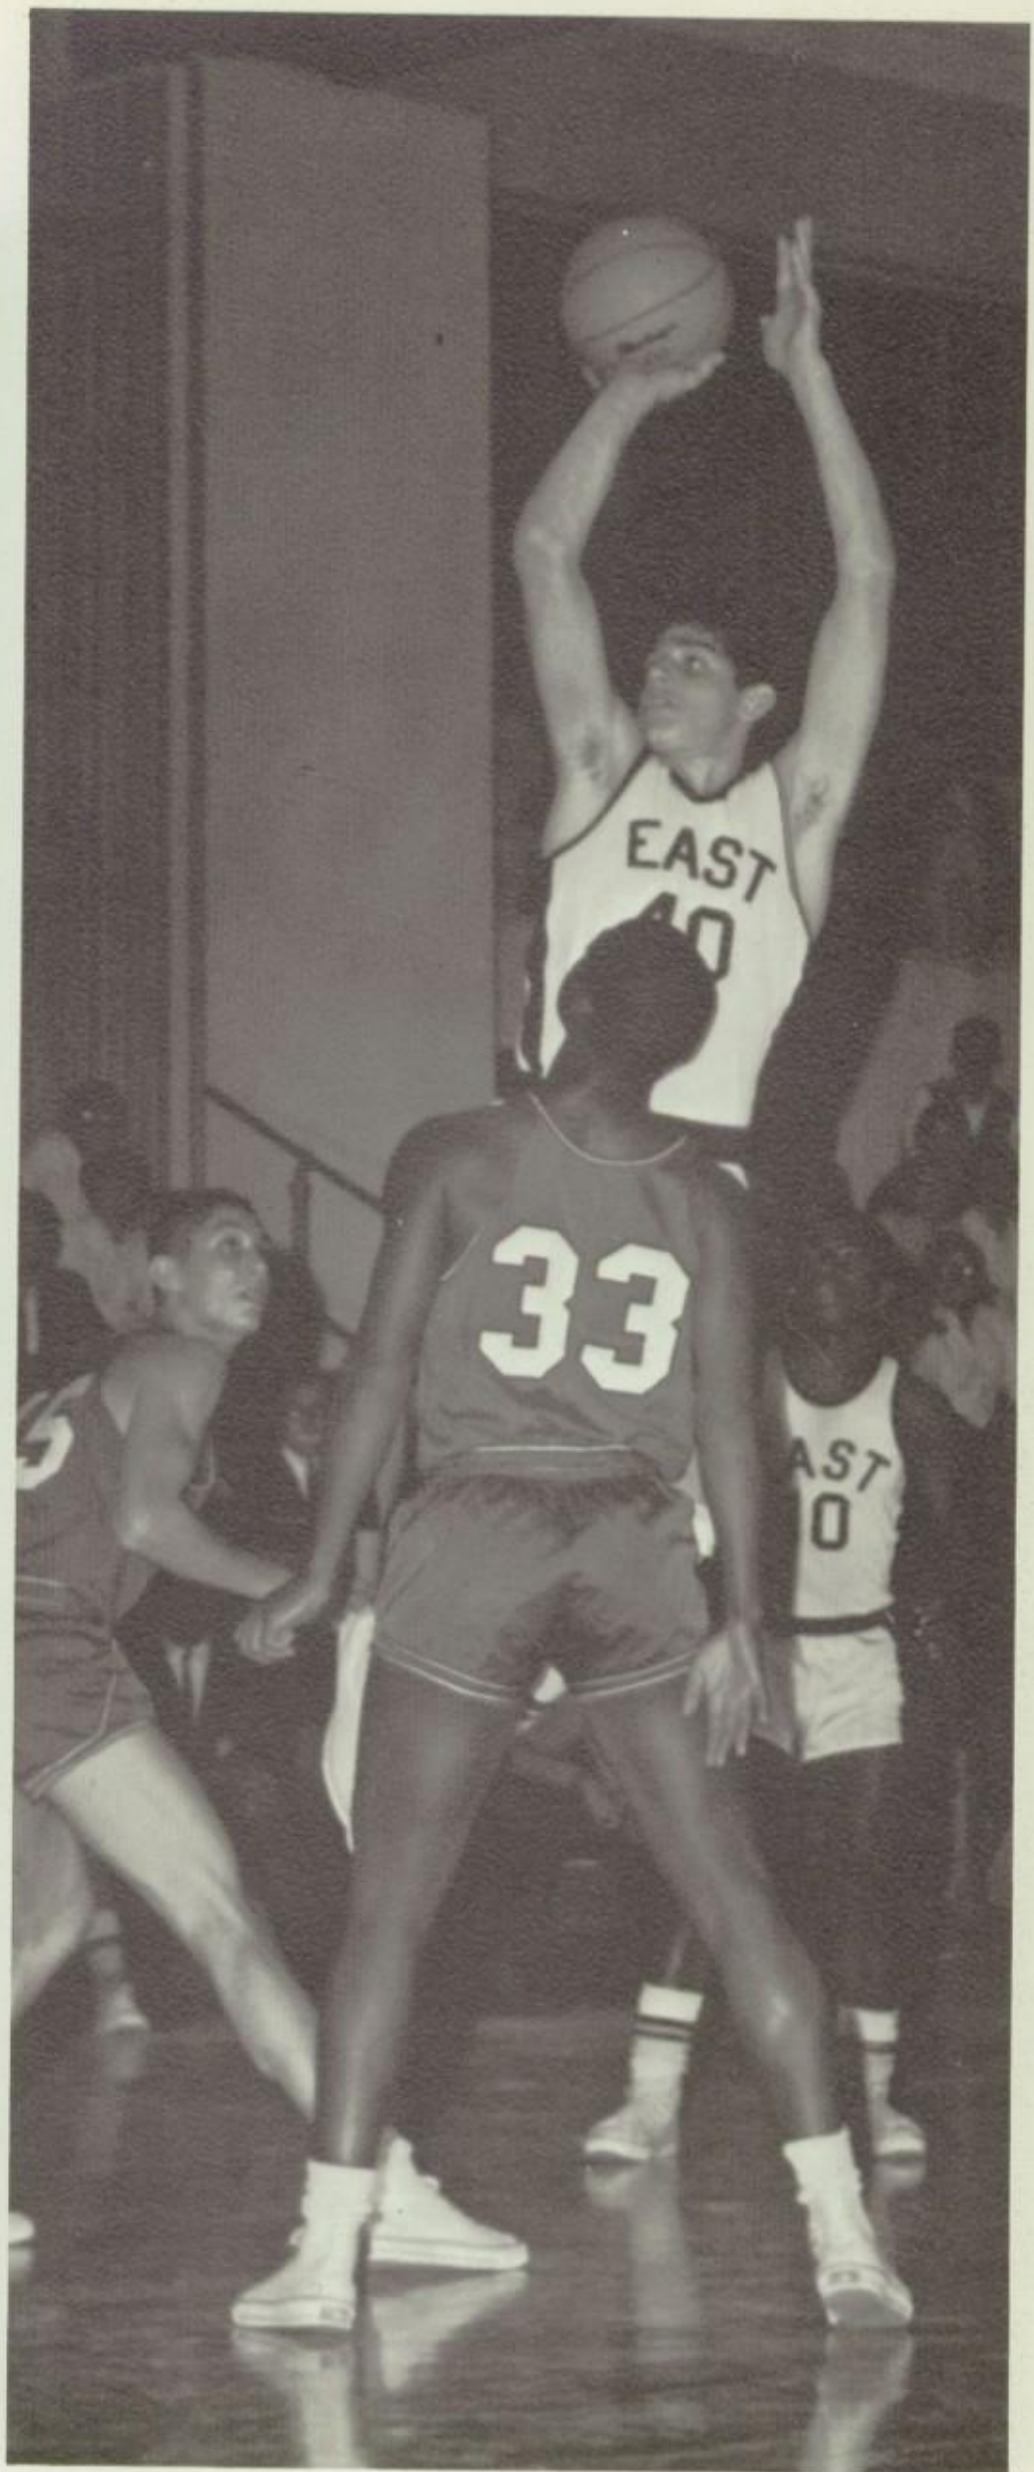

However, a team has more than two members. Adept playmakers were found in junior Conrad Lyons and senior Floyd Wiest. The fifth man on the squad was senior Dave Heilman who proved to be a consistent rebounder, and reliable pointmaker when the bigger men got into foul trouble. Until a broken thumb sidelined him, junior Kyle Frankford was the sixth man on the team, often coming off the bench to get the Panthers back into the game. Senior Denny Snyder rounded out the "starting seven."

Although the win column was not as large as the loss column, East High basketball in '68 finally came into its own. Individual and team records were established, and the East High Panthers were recognized at last as a team to be reckoned with.

New Claws

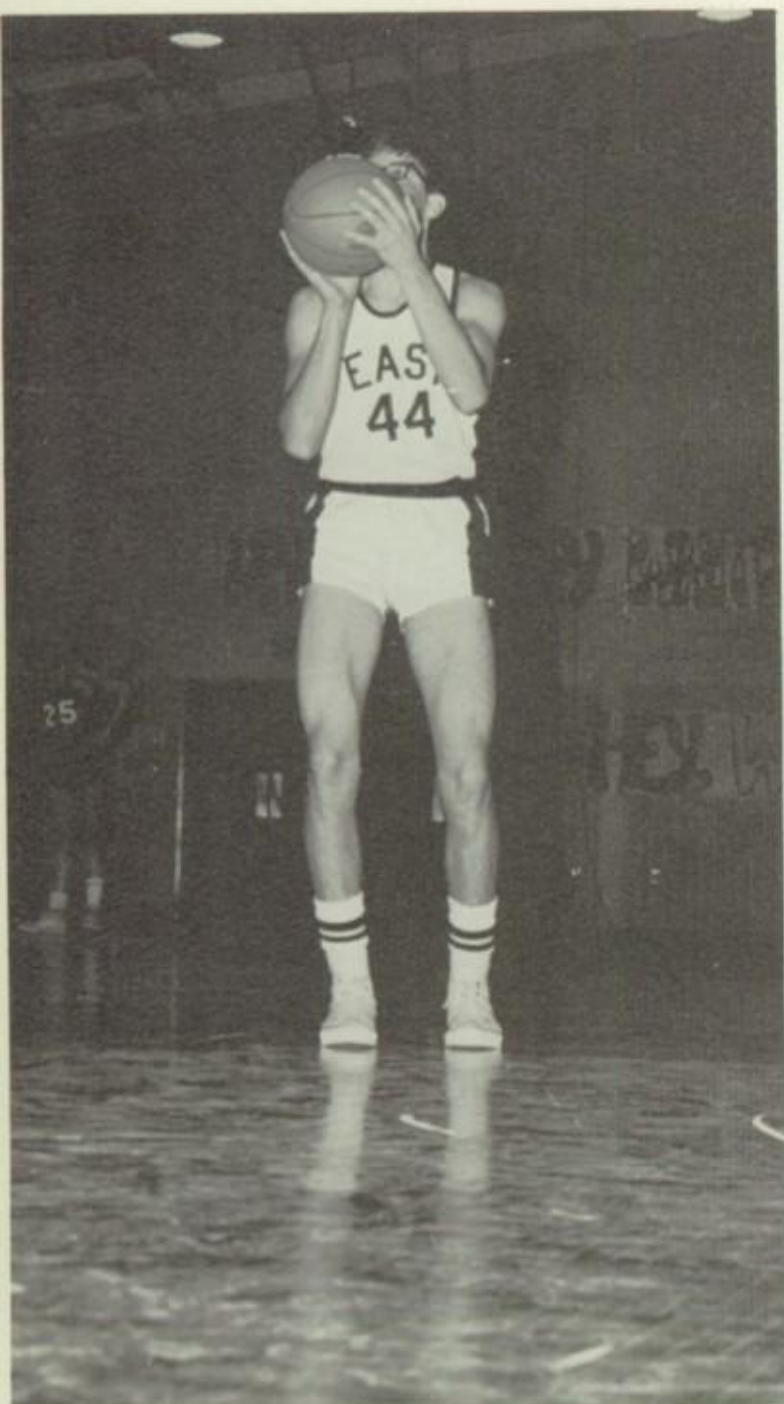

Jim Baker, Panther Co-Captain, swishes for two to help secure East's victory over Steel-High.

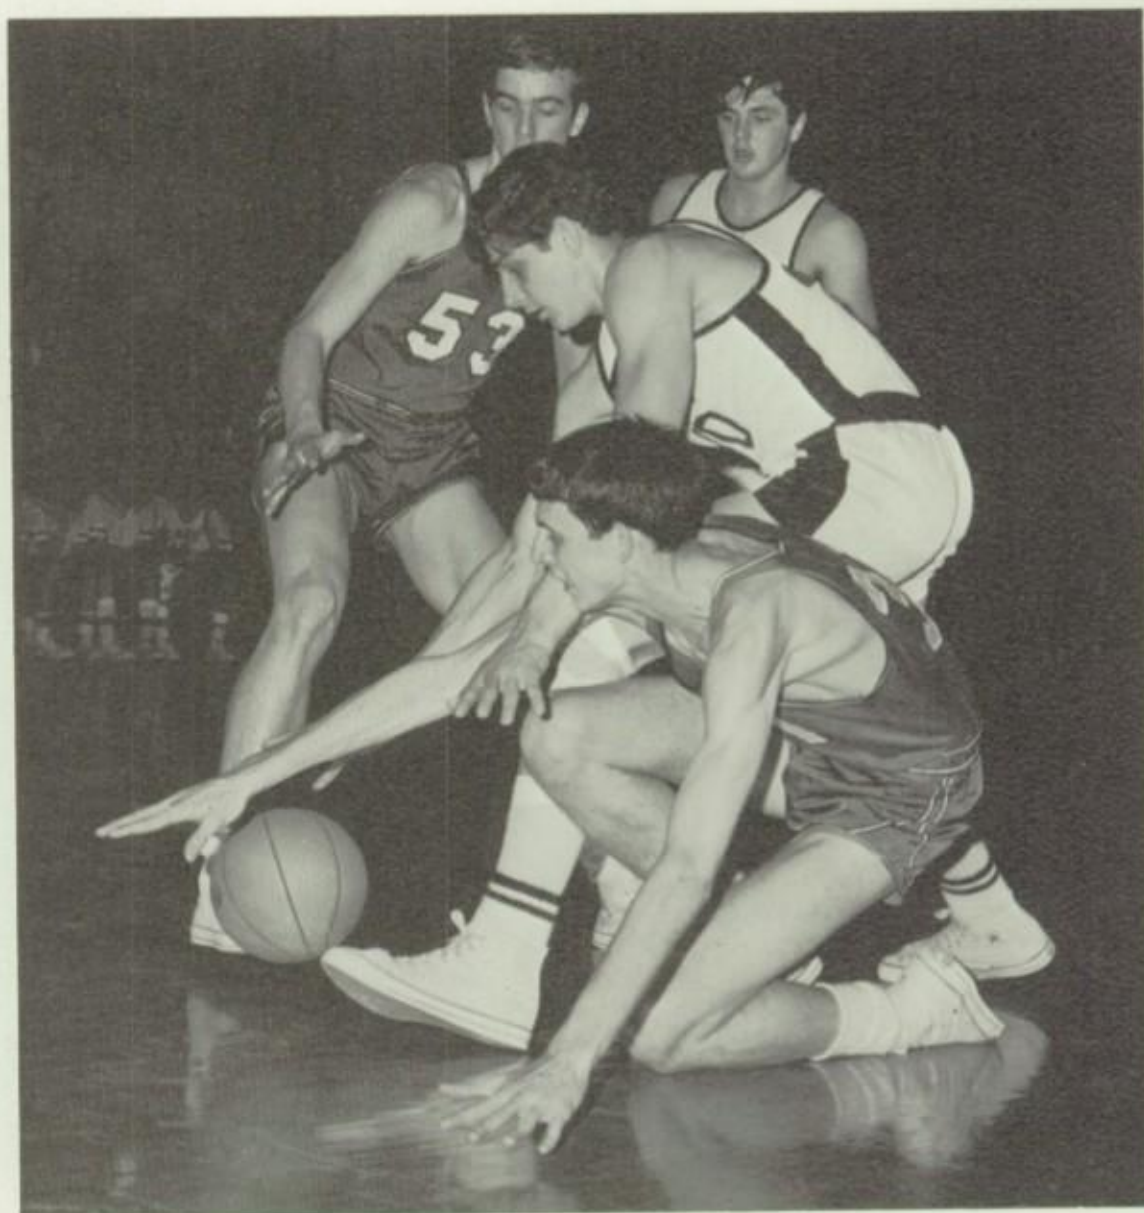

Head and shoulders above the opposition, Co-Captain Joe Vajda sinks another against Lancaster.

Baker, Vajda Lead East's

Concentration and ability combined to make Jim Baker one of the area's outstanding scorers, ranking sixth among the leaders.

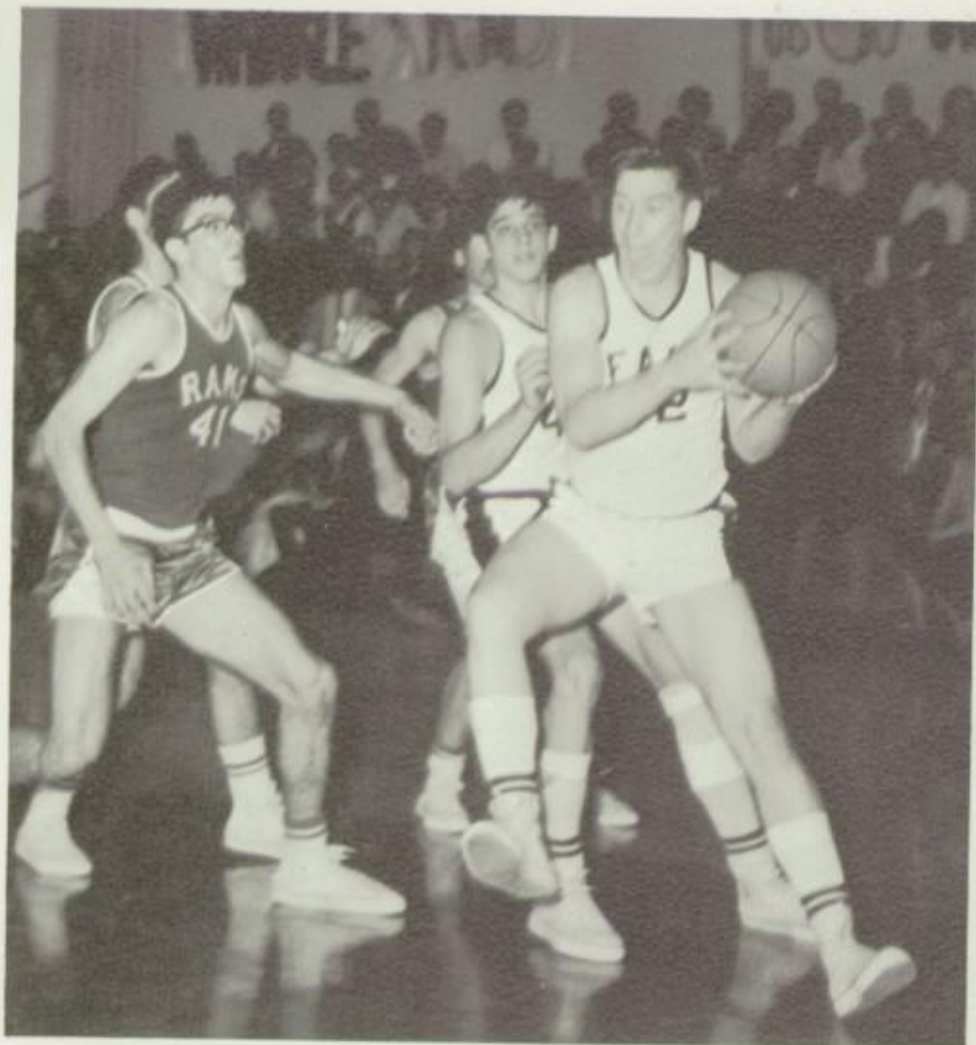

Whether in the air or on the ground, Joe Vajda usually came up with the rebound. Joe averaged 16 rebounds a game.

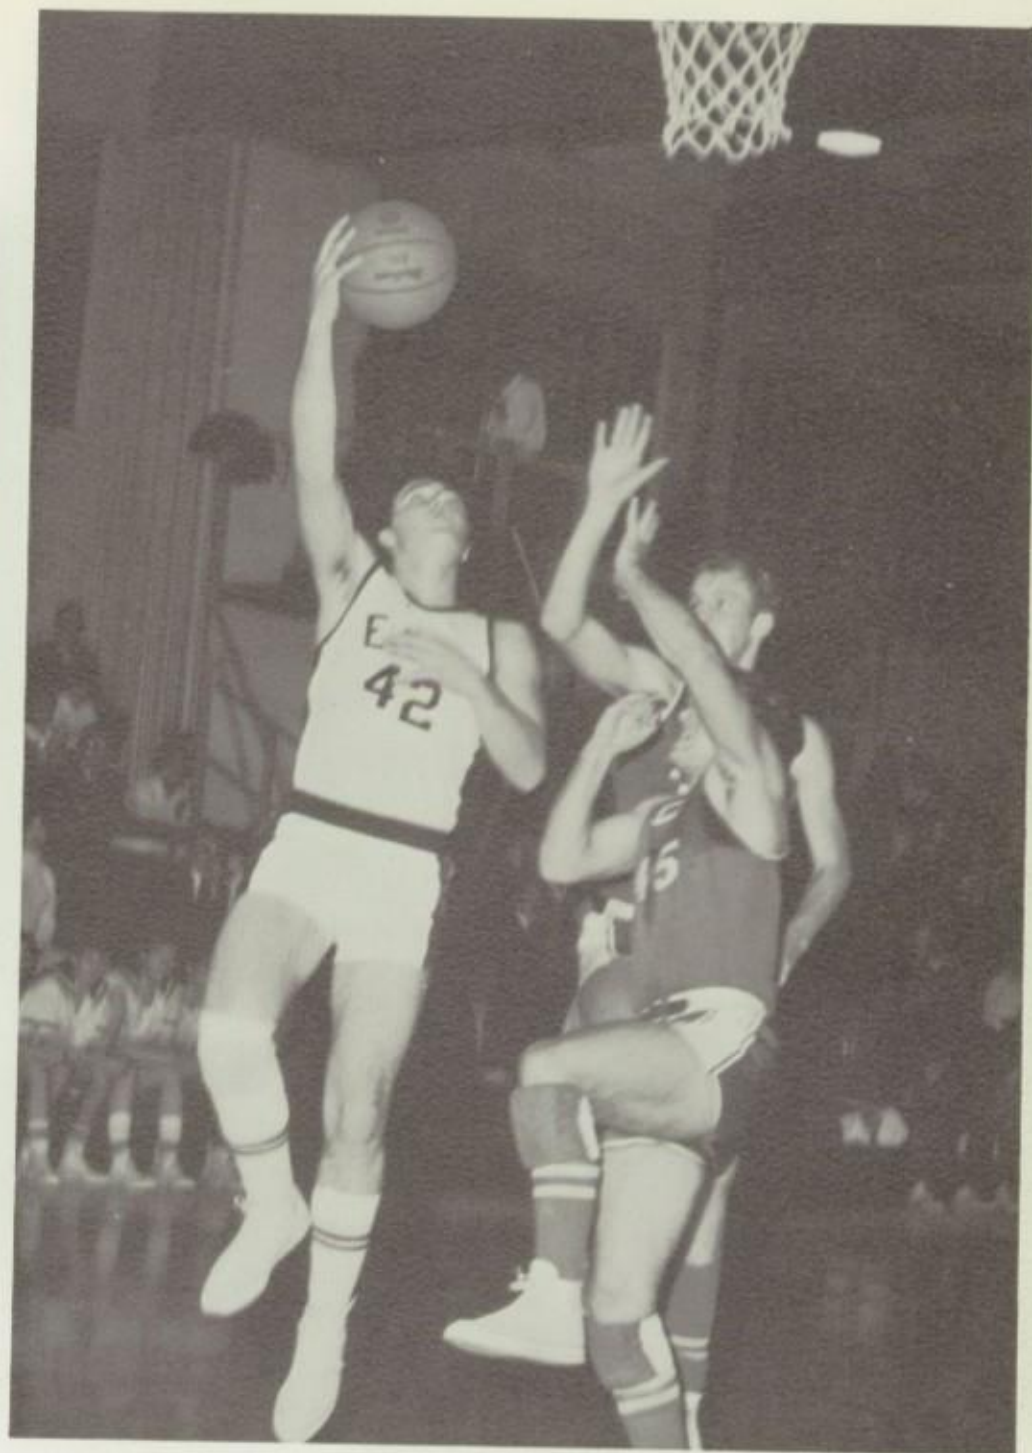

Harassment by the Rams did not stop Kyle Frankford from getting his shot away. Moving in for a possible rebound are Joe Noga and Joe Vajda.

Winningest Team

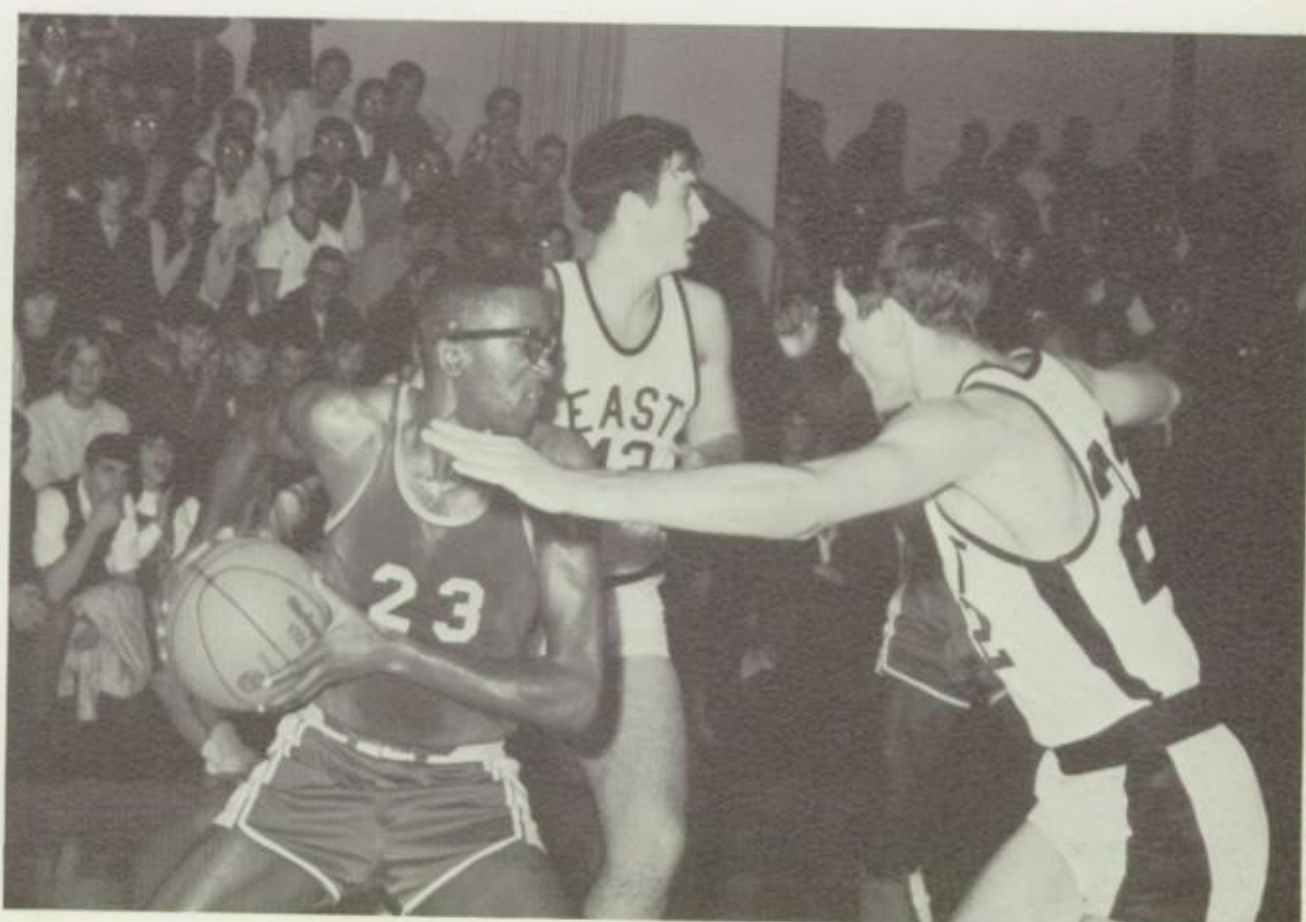

Joe Noga barely touches the floor after rebounding against C.D. before he is in action again.

Dave Heilman moves in with a hook shot in East's 68-55 triumph over Steel-High.

Basketball Gives Fans

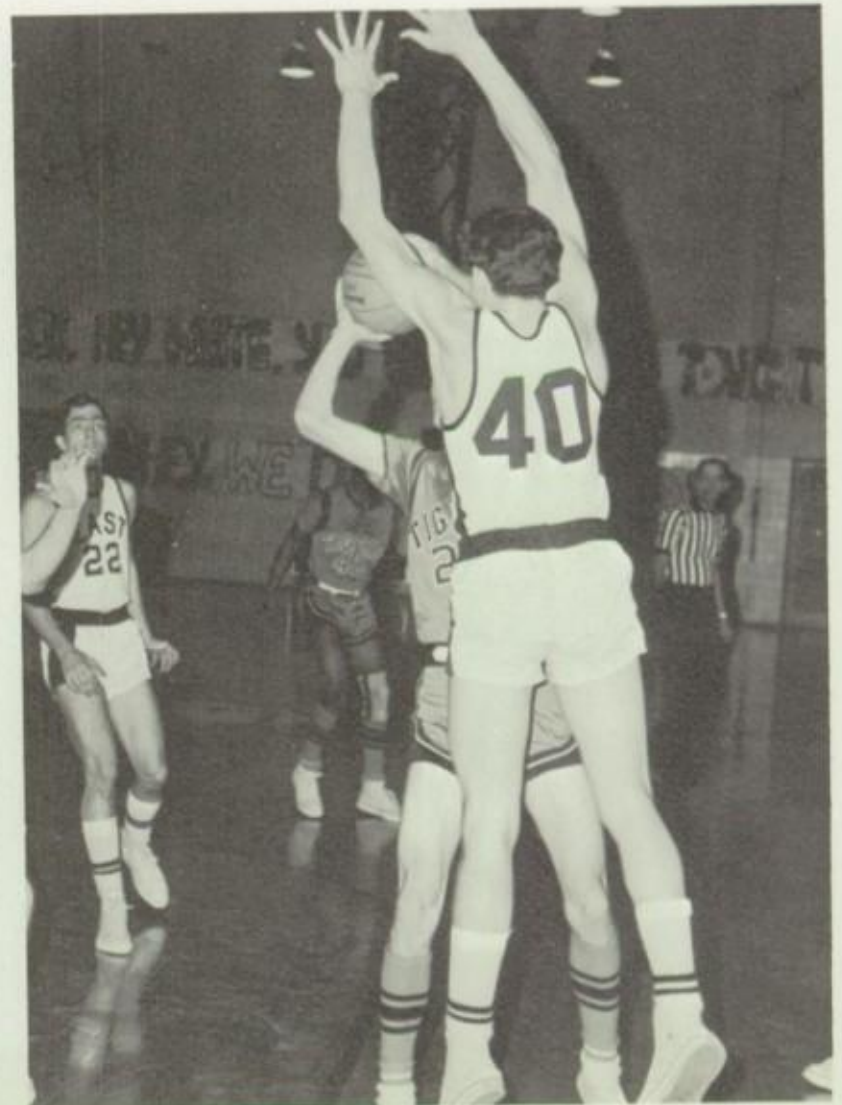

Although he is guarded by two Steamrollers, Dave Heilman keeps control of himself and the ball.

The double-teaming efforts of Wiest and Heilman apply pressure on a Tiger, but East felt the pressure in the final seconds as William Penn came out of top 52-51.

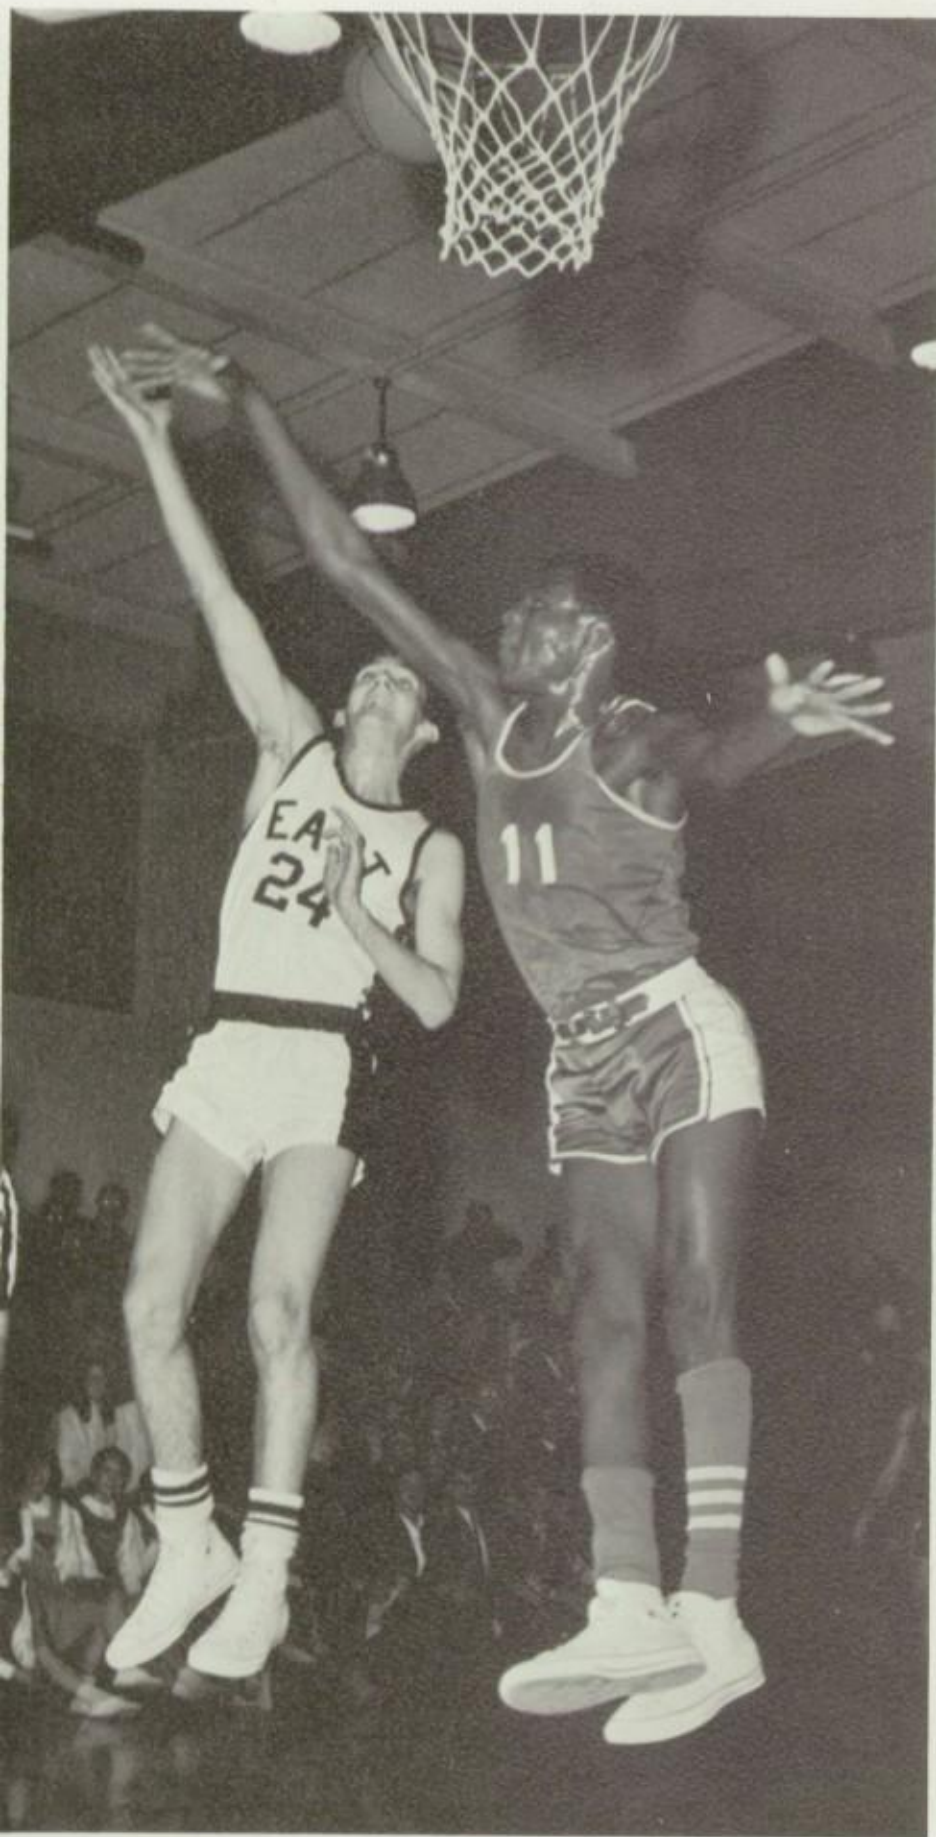

"Kut" Wiest seems to be executing a modern dance step as he attempts to block a Lancaster shot.

Joe Vajda appears to be pouncing on his William Penn opponent as he makes his move for the ball.

Something to Cheer About

Kyle Frankford reaches just a little higher than his Steel High opponent to score two more for the Panthers.

Jim Baker shoots over a Tiger to nail down two of his 13 points in the Penn game.

The shortest starter for East, Conrad Lyons still manages to out jump his Lancaster opposition to score again in East's 57-55 upset loss.

Joe Vajda gathers in another of his many rebounds as the Rams look on helplessly.

New Coach "Fires Up" Basketball Squad

Coach Shropshire initiated new pride and desire in the East High Panthers. In his first year of coaching, the basketball team set several school records, including the most games won in a season.

Jim Baker executes a hop, skip, and a jump to complete a shot while Dave Heilman waits to see if there is a rebound to snare.

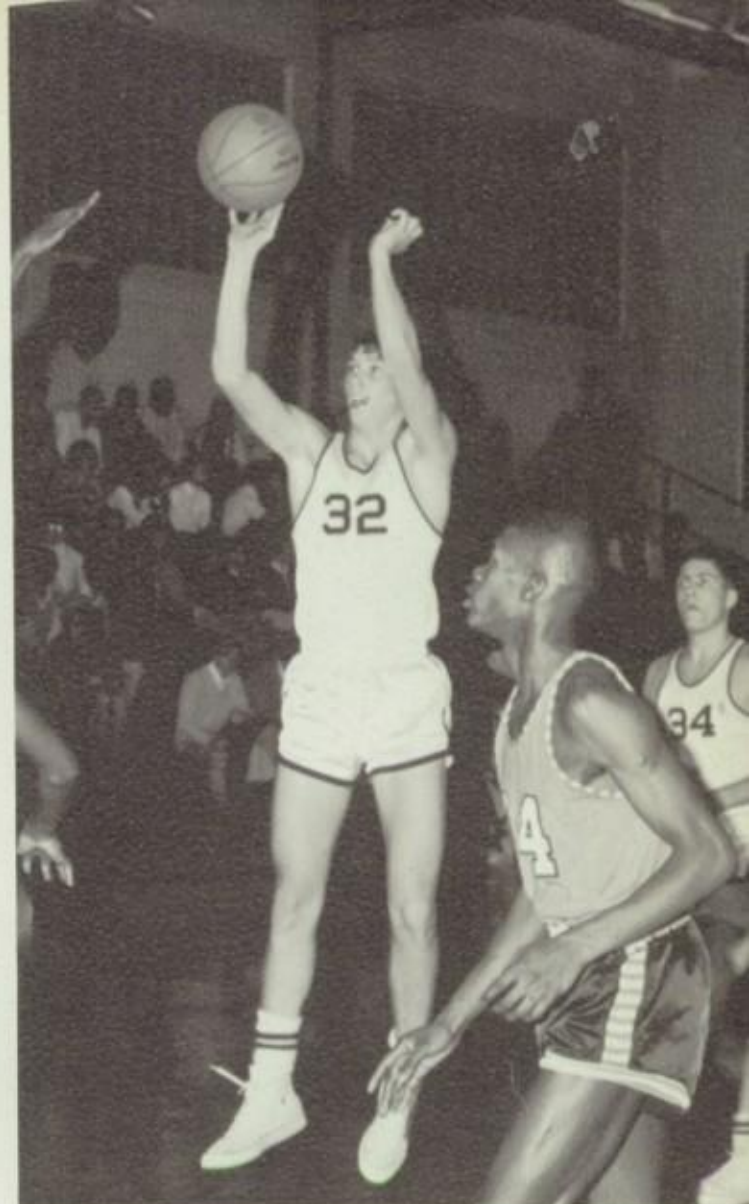

Dave Mitchell adds to an entanglement of arms as two Rams battle each other for possession of a loose basketball.

Panther Grapplers

Gain Third Place in Capital Area League

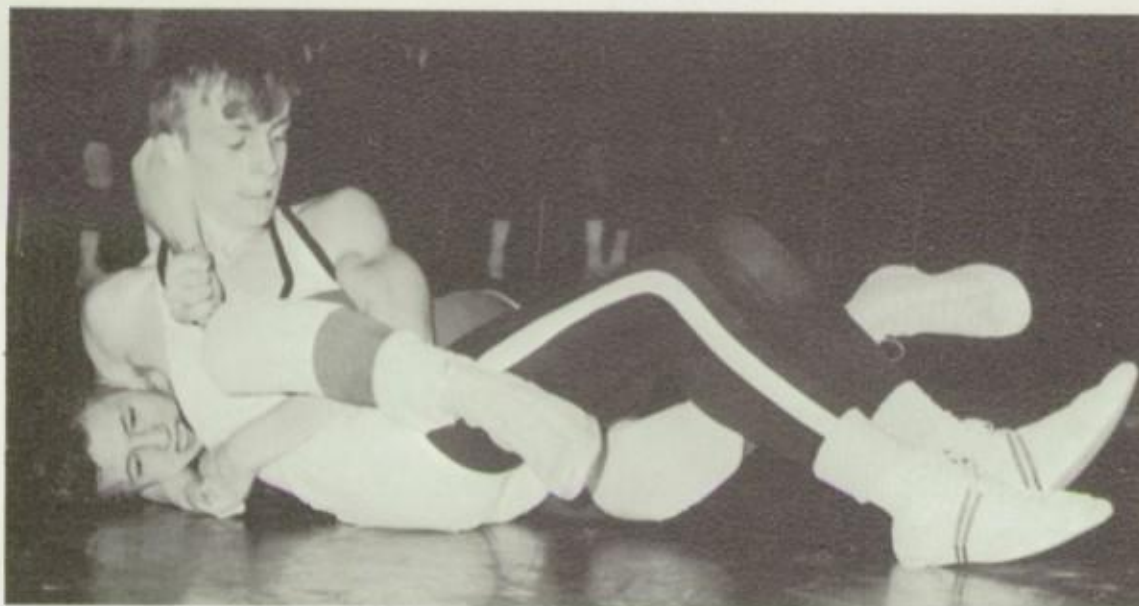

Doug Raker maintains a hold on his Steel-High opponent to get two points for a take down. Doug's season record was 9-3.

Co-Captain Pete Daube grimaces about the hold applied by a Ram. One of Pete's two season losses was to the Ram, as East also met defeat at C.D. 12-30.

Junior Randy Wert does a balancing act in manipulating his C.D. opponent. Randy posted a draw with the Ram.

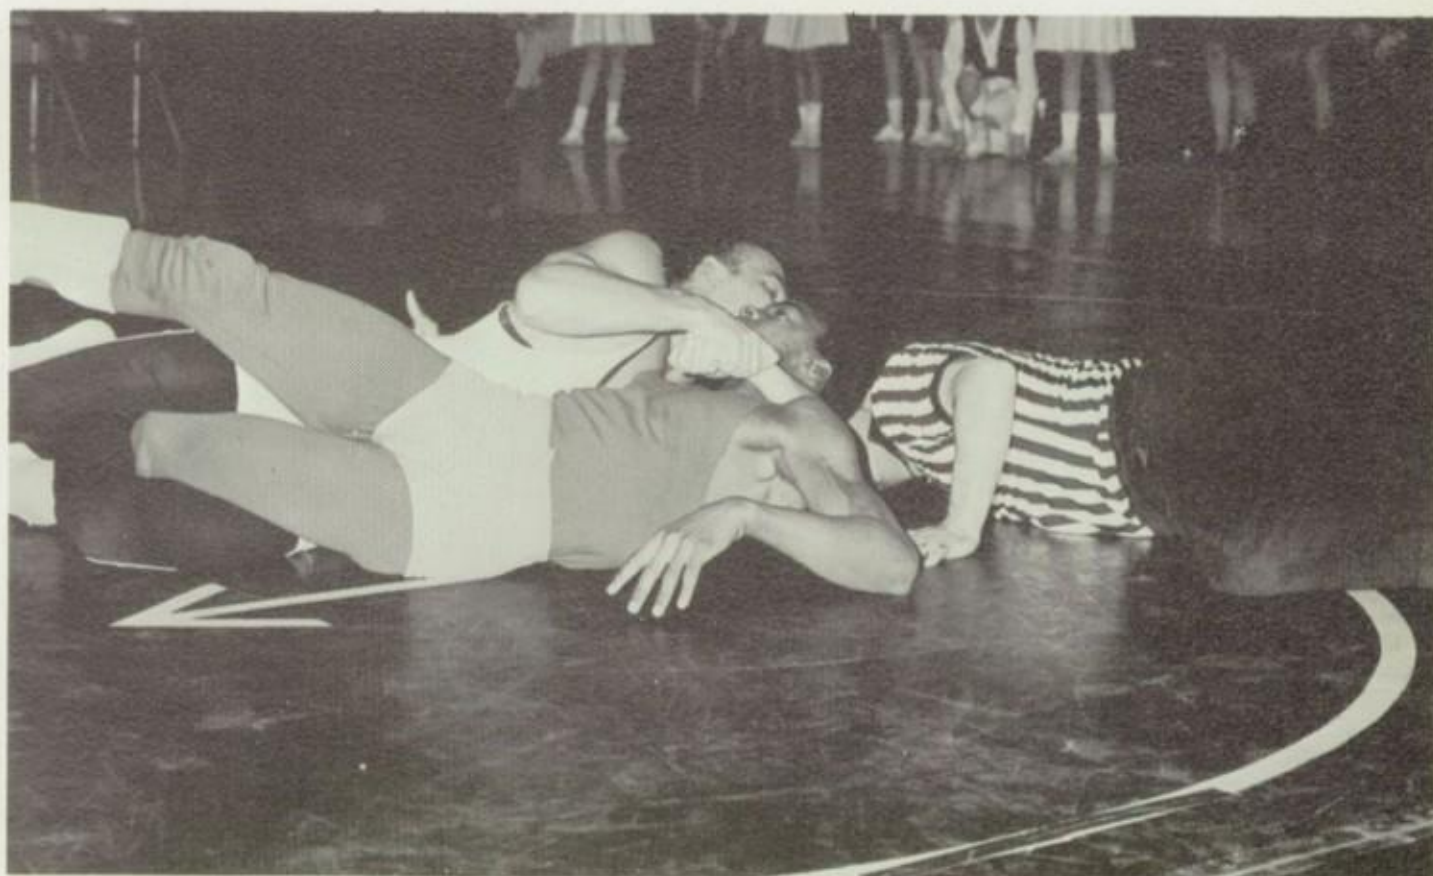

Wayne Shearer, undefeated in league competition, applies a neck hold and uses leg leverage to achieve a pin.

Coached by Mr. Carl Espenshade, the varsity wrestling squad earned a third place ranking in the Capital Area League behind the always strong Cedar Cliff Colts, and sister school Central Dauphin. However, the league record does not clearly indicate the outstanding efforts of the team. Senior co-captains Pete Daube and Tom Koons were consistent victors to help gain team points. Other senior starters were Doug Raker, Bill Morris, sidelined with a broken hand late in the season, and Brad Flickinger. Junior Wayne Shearer was the top-seeded contender at 103 pounds in the district matches by virtue of his undefeated record in league competition. Other strong juniors on the varsity were Randy Bates and Doug Beaver. Doug also suffered a late season injury.

After graduation a strong list of juniors and sophomores will remain to work toward avenging the losses in '68 and improving the Panthers' league standing.

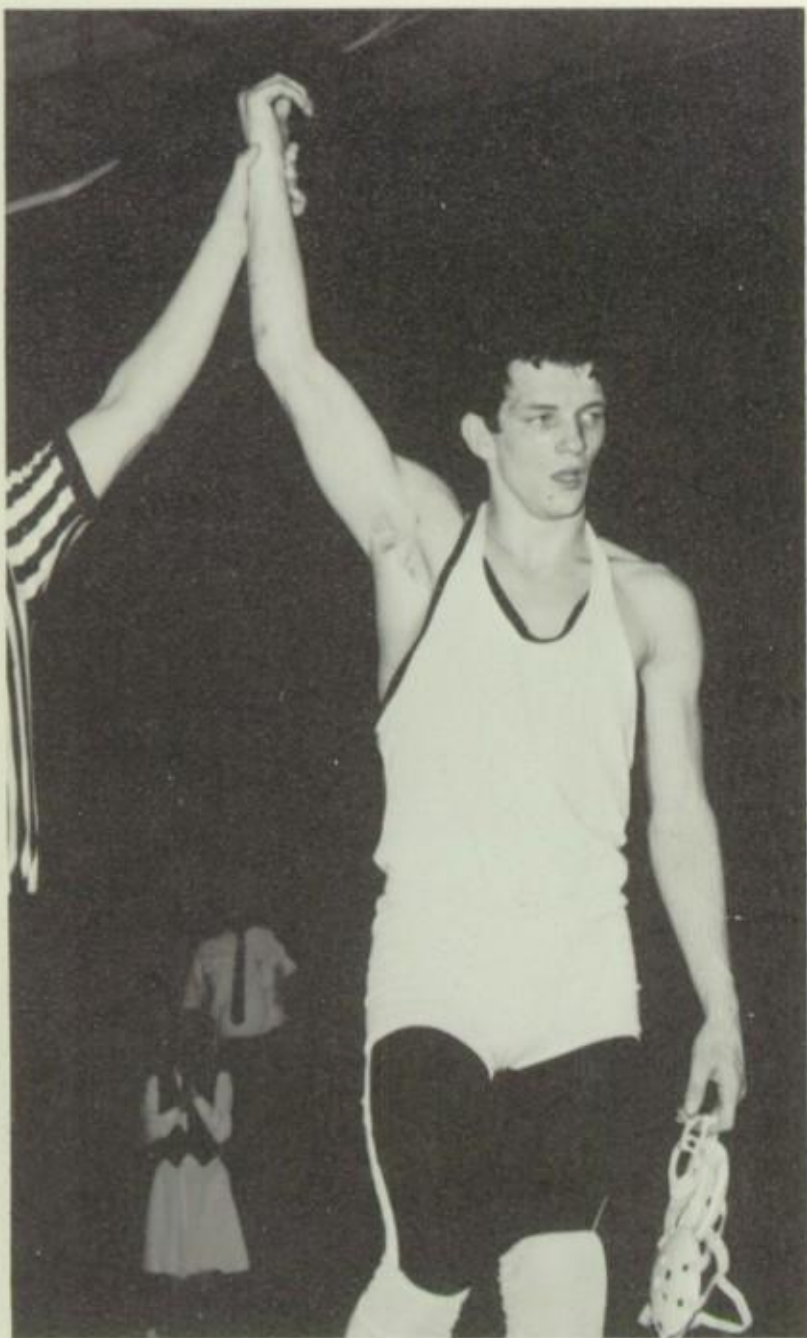

Legs and arms help Tom Koons get the leverage needed to take down his William Penn opponent. Tom went on to win the match to help East pin the Tigers 39-3.

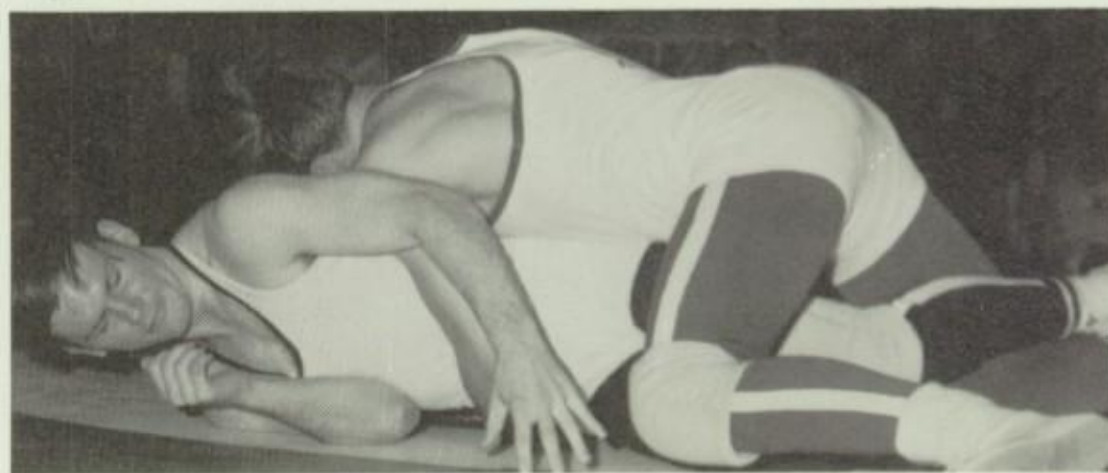

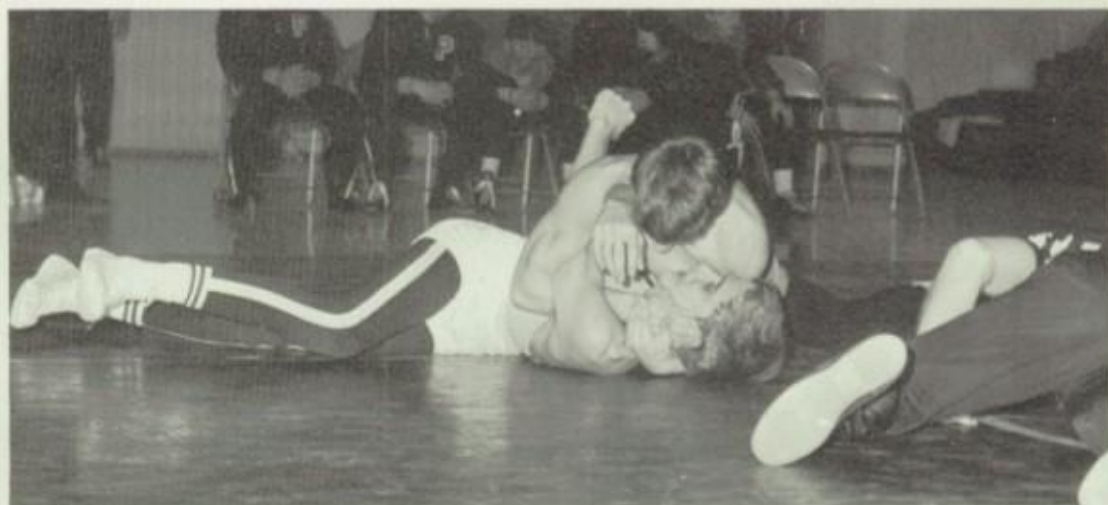

Brad Flickinger, 8-2 in league competition, fights to pin his John Harris opposition. The Pioneers fell prey to the Panther grapplers 40-14.

Although the sixteen seniors, one junior, and one sophomore compiling the varsity practiced industriously and constantly, their season was not victorious. Hampered by the inability to score, the hockey team's record was 0-2-9. The junior varsity, however, had a 7-2-2 season, a sure indication of an upcoming successful season.

Pull Out 7-10 Season

Although the Pantherettes were unable to emulate last year's 10 - 4 record, they gave opponents both in and out of the Lower Susquehanna League a taste of Panther prowess. Disappointing as the season was, its experiences served as preparation for both those girls returning next year and those leaving the team. The season was not without its high spots. Co-captained by seniors Mary Trephan and Hazel Zettlemyer, the Pantherettes opened the season by trouncing McDevitt 38 - 28 and by defeating Middletown 37 - 34. Archrival Central Dauphin met defeat on the Pantherettes' home court, losing 25 - 31. Redland never recovered from a first quarter shutout as East handily won 38 - 28. Second half victories included a satisfying revenge upon Susquehanna who fell 35 - 31 and a close 40 - 39 contest with Redland. Other seniors who led the feminine cagers were Stephanie Bashore, high scorer with over 215 points, Brenda Uhrich, capable high post, and Nancy Kohnlein and Sherry Harlacher, talented guards. Junior Varsity hustlers favorably represented East in league competition with a 12 - 5 slate. They along with returnees from the varsity squad are looking forward to next season which will undoubtedly be filled with high expectations and hard work.

Shortstop Stephanie Bashore snares a grounder to halt a Cedar Cliff run in East's 17-3 victory.

In keeping with Panther tradition, Hazel Zettlemoyer gives all-out effort in East's 13-7 victory over Boiling Springs.

Under the watchful eye of umpire Mr. Hicks, Hazel Zettlemoyer waits for the ball to sail by a hapless Colt batter.

Not to be outdone by the boys, the Pantherettes were co-champions of the Lower Susquehanna softball league. Led by the consistent pitching of senior Jenny Boynton, the girls batted their way to a 7 win, 1 loss record. Significant wins were over Boiling Springs, 13-7; Northern, 7-6; and Central Dauphin, 23-9. After a disappointing early season loss to Redland, 14-3, the Pantherettes went on to win their remaining five games and earn the right to a play-off with the Patriots. Withstanding a late inning surge by Redland, East rallied in the bottom of the fifth inning to cinch the game and a share of the league title by a score of 10-9.

1967 Baseball Team Retains Trophy

The Panthers once again brought fame to East as they won the Lower Dauphin Baseball League championship for the second successive year. As defending champs East had to contend with the league's determination to dethrone them. However, losing only four games in their fifteen game schedule, the Panthers recorded victories over Middletown, Bishop McDevitt, and Susquehanna. Losses were to Lower Dauphin 3-8 and 9-13 and to Central Dauphin 0-7 and 7-9. In the home stretch of the league race, East posted necessary wins over C.D. 6-4 and Lower Dauphin 9-1 to cinch the title. Senior Tom Cassell was a mainstay at shortstop for the Panthers, drawing scouts from the Pittsburgh Pirates and the St. Louis Cardinals. Junior Bob Hanshaw re-wrote the record books by posting East's first no-hitter with a 1-0 victory over Susquehanna.

ABOVE: Ken Stauffer and Al Trostle are out in front in East's 88-62 victory over Trinity. AT RIGHT: Pole vaulter, Pete Daube, begins his approach to the bar.

In spite of some outstanding individual talent, the 1967 East High track team earned only fourth place in the Central Penn Track League. The thinclads compiled an overall record of six wins, four losses; and a Central Penn record of five wins, three losses. Senior Carl McKlveen set new school records in the triple jump and the high jump. He also secured a third place for the high jump in the District Three Championship Meet. Senior Delby Forker smashed the shot put record. Although the 1967 track season was not brilliantly successful, it was by no means a disaster with many underclassmen letterwinners returning in 1968.

Clubmen Swing Through Tough 3-6-1 Season

As spring fever hit East High, everyone envied the golf team as they departed for the golf course. But all was not sunny as the charges of Coach Wilbert compiled a season record of three wins, six losses, and one tie. Seniors Jim Cadiz, Keith Close, Bruce Keslar, and Greg Benedek tallied most of East's scoring. Returning lettermen who will form the nucleus of the 1968 squad are Kyle Frankford, Steve Schwalm, and Jeff Lipman.

Panther Netmen Can't Find Winning Ways

With difficulty finding a winning combination, the 1967 tennis team was dominated by seniors. Starters for the net men were Mike Slotznick, Dick Dutro, John Brown, and John Ulrich. Now that graduation has claimed these seniors, the 1968 team will have to rely on enthusiastic but inexperienced underclassmen. Perhaps with this new blood the '67 record of two wins and eight losses can be improved.

FRONT ROW: J. Barley, R. Ulrich, E. Gohl, S. Wiest, J. Dutro, C. March. ROW TWO: J. Ulrich, D. Dutro, M. Slotznick, D. Wachhaus, J. Brown.

Underclassmen

The adaptation to East was new -- a challenge ... more freedom ... new ideas ... lunch-line gyping ... supporting athletic events ... trying to out yell the seniors to win the spirit stick ... first college boards ... writing without a desk in study hall ... learning stick-shift in Drivers' Training ... new friends ... harder studies ... a sudden burst of school spirit ... the Alma Mater ... Junior-Senior prom ... all-school project ... the feeling of being wanted ... included ... long hours for activities ... dances ... parties ... the chaperones are limited ... Slave Day ... at the end of the first year you're a Panther ... you realize how quickly the years pass ... a senior ... completing the circle started in your sophomore year ... laughing about your years as an underclassman ... and remembering. At right: Underclassmen begin their long trek from the second floor to the gym for a pep rally.

Kotay, Miller Guide Sophomores Through 1968

September found the largest class in the short history of East High in the presence of the Sophomore class. Numbering 450, the Class of '70 quickly became caught up in the affairs and activities of the Panther Pack. Their first activity was the election of class officers to spearhead their projects. As their major money-making endeavor, the sophomores joined the all-school candy sale. Quickly becoming involved in life at East, the Class of '70 contributed to school functions in athletics, dramatics, and clubs. As an integral part of the East scene, the sophomores anxiously await their turn at being upperclassmen.

Junior Leaders Plan Class Activities

The junior class, an important segment of the school population, began their busy year with the election of class officers. Faced with a financial problem, the newly elected leaders and the class plunged whole-heartedly into the all-school money making project. Their devotion and enthusiasm allowed the juniors to out-sell all others, thus securing a well-filled class treasury. One of the highlights of the year was the Junior-Senior Prom, sponsored by the Class of '69. Another important concern of the class was the annual Junior Class Play held in the spring. The class will return next year to fill the shoes left vacant by the Class of '68. The experience gained through this year's hard work will undoubtedly aid the Class of '69 in the important task of leading East High as Seniors.

Seniors

The anxiety of being a sophomore ... the smugness of being a junior ... finally the frustration and freedom of being a senior ... the last football game ... the newly found trust of the teachers ... "Did you hear from the college?" ... "I guess they don't want me" ... the achievements that were the deciding factor in acceptance ... buying name cards ... trading senior pictures ... graduation announcements ... senior recognition day ... senior hall ... the prom planned just for you ... the senior banquet ... regrets of leaving East ... tears at graduation ... happiness on becoming an adult ... regret and love of the past ... hope and plans for the future ... maturity our goals ... happiness our future ... East High was an essential part of our lives ... it rounded us out ... it guided us toward our future ... it will never be forgotten. AT RIGHT: Seniors find refuge in their "faculty room" during Senior Recognition Day.

Stauffer, Morris Spearhead East's Largest Senior Class

Ken Stauffer, President; Lisa Liggett, Treasurer; Bill Morris, Vice-President; Fran Markunas, Secretary; Mary Trephan, Historian.

"V-I-C-T-O-R-Y is the Senior Battle Cry." The seniors' enthusiastic and ear-splitting repetition of this cheer continuously won them the "spirit stick." The largeness of this class was a definite asset during all of their three years at East High. In 1966 they made over $1000 selling candy for their class project. Determined to have one of the best proms East has ever seen, the Class of '68, then juniors, devised another money-making project: selling mums for Homecoming. Work was not the only activity this class indulged in, however, for in the spring of 1966 they staged a gala class play day. After many months of preparation and work for their Junior-Senior Prom, "Misty" was a reward to their industry. Determined to make 1968 their most memorable year, the seniors plunged enthusiastically into the all-school candy sale. It was this same wave of enthusiasm which carried them through their senior year: their prom, their graduation, and into their future.

FRONT ROW: M. Trephan, G. Cassell, F. Markunas, L. Liggett, J. Salerno, D. Koup, P. Zimmerer, G. Raffensperger, D. Kline, B. Morris, J. Nikoloff, N.

Newman. ROW TWO: V. Grimm, D. Rhoades, S. Thompson, D. Hoch, L. Conrad, R. Wertz, C. Witmer, K. Hughes, T. Gorman, K. Stauffer.

In Memoriam

Only when you drink from the river of silence shall you indeed sing.

And when you have reached the mountain top, then you shall begin to climb.

And when the earth shall claim your limbs, then shall you truly dance.

The Prophet
Our fellow student and friend Robert Smeltzer has left us, but remaining are the memories of his willing hand and warm smile. He was with us for barely a moment in the span of eternity, but just as surely as a minute is counted toward a forever, Rob is still a part of us.

Candidly Speaking

The lunch line gypers' peril. After practically convincing Bill Bavington to allow him to gyp into the lunch line, Nick Piccolo finds himself in somewhat of a bind with Mr. Hoover.

Grin and bear it! Sherry Harlacher stalwartly accepts some post-defeat chiding.

The faces of Ellen Goldsmith, top, and Maureen Crowley are caught at unexpected moments in the classroom.

The frogman of East High, otherwise known as Steve Clark, prepares a weird brew in chemistry lab.

The Year Is Round...

For some, the experience of East has concluded with the final pages of this 1968 ORIENS, but for others there is much more to come. We who have been tempered by high school's social and academic life are leaving, but our impressions of East will endure in these pages and in poignant memories.

There are those who helped us to preserve the pungency of these memories. We extend our heartfelt thanks to Mr. William Monteith, our link with Walsworth Publishing Company. His shrewd and expert counseling guided us through many unforeseen difficulties. We sincerely thank Mr. Mal Cray and Johnson's Studio for their skilled photography in capturing every aspect of East.

But now the ever-whirling globe of East has paused to let us off. It is time to part with friends and to pursue new courses. We look hopefully to the future for further development of character and for even greater happiness.
